VICTORIAN RAILWAYS.
SUPPLY AND CARRIAGE OF COAL DURING THE YEAR 1881.
TENDERS will be received until noon on FRIDAY, the 10th December, 1880, from persons prepared to execute the undermentioned services:—
1st. Supply and deliver into vessels at Newcastle, N. S. W. during the year, about 40,000 tons coal, required for use at Melbourne, and about 17,000 tons for Geelong. The coal must be delivered at the rate of about 3000 tons for Melbourne, and 1300 tons for Geelong, every four weeks.
2nd. Convey about 57,000 tons coal during the year 1881, from Griffiths' Point, Western Port, Victoria; or from Newcastle, Coal Cliff, or Jarvis Bay, N. S. W., to the Railway Piers at Geelong, Williamstown, or Sandridge, or any point of the river Yarra Yarra, at Melbourne. The coal to be delivered at the places and in the same quantities as above stated in No. 1.
3rd. (Alternative to Nos. 1 and 2.) Supply and deliver into railway trucks, during the year 1881, about 57,000 tons coal. Delivery to be made at the places and in the same quantities as stated above in No. 1.
Tenders both for the coal and the carriage may be for the whole quantity required by the Department, or for the separate supply required at either Melbourne or Geelong.
A preliminary deposit of £100, either in bank notes or bank draft, in favour of the Secretary for Railways, must accompany each tender.
Forms of tender, conditions of contract, and further particulars may be obtained from the Accountant at Melbourne, the Commissioner of Railways, Sydney, or the Victorian Coal Viewer, Newcastle.
The Government will not necessarily accept the lowest or any tender.
All tenders must be endorsed "Tender for Coal, or Carriage of Coal (as the case may be), Victorian Railways," and addressed to the Tender Box, Government Offices, Treasury Gardens, Melbourne.

Copies of prospectus and forms of application for shares can be obtained from the Brokers, Provisional Directors, or from any of the Branches of the Bank of New Zealand in this colony, until the 15th day of December, 1880, at which date all applications must be in the hands of the Brokers, when the lists will positively be closed and shares allotted.
Specimens of Caswell Sound Marble can be seen at any of the Museums in New Zealand; the Chamber of Commerce, Wellington; or on application to any of the officers of the Company.
In introducing this eligible investment to the notice of the public, the promoters desire to state that the Company's rights comprise the best, most available, extensive, and perhaps most valuable Marble deposits in the known world, at all events in the Southern Hemisphere. This is sufficiently proved by Caswell Sound Marble securing the first prize at the late Sydney Exhibition against Italian Statuary and other valuable varieties. They also wish to dwell upon its known certainty and non-speculative character, the ultimate success of this venture being now well established. The lowest quotation for this Marble is 12s per foot, and ranges up to £5. Larger blocks are, however, much more valuable, some pure White Statuary without flaws realising as much as £20,000 sterling in Europe; the ordinary price for a block suitable for a life-size human statue being about £1000. The present cost of producing this Marble by manual labour only is about 2s per cubic foot, f.o.b. These figures may appear incredible, but they are nevertheless absolutely correct. Thus, taking the cost of production as stated and the very lowest wholesale quotation at 12s per foot, gives the apparently fabulous minimum rate of 300 per cent. profit. It is, therefore, no visionary matter, as these are leading commercial lines and the values well known, the facilities of production, shipment, high quality of product, giving a vast advantage over any like property in the world. We will also venture to predict that the value of the company's shares will increase at least 500 per cent. within twelve months of issue. Referring to consumption of these commodities, it is also enormous. The consumption of Marble, Portland Cement, and Lime in the Australian Colonies alone during the last twelve months has been £2,872,600 sterling, and rapidly increasing. Caswell Sound is a commodious and safe harbour for the largest vessels in all weathers, the works of the Company being situated at the water's edge. The Government of this colony has also promised to favourably consider special grants and concessions in aid as soon as the Company is successful floated. For further particulars as to other minerals found at the Sound, copper, coal, gold, &c., also the manufacture of hydraulic cement, lime, &c., together with scientific, professional, Government, and other reports, with details of the objects and intentions of the Company, we refer to the Prospectus, which can be obtained upon application to the Company's agents, the Bank of New Zealand, Sydney, or at the office of this paper.

ST. LEONARDS ELECTION.

The polling for the electoral district of St. Leonards took place yesterday, the candidates for the single seat being Messrs. J. S. Farnell and B. O. Holtermann. The result, as far as known at present, is as follows :—

J. S. Farnell	838
B. O. Holtermann	690

It is certain that Mr. Farnell has been elected, although the Pittwater returns have yet to be added to the totals above given; they cannot, however, alter the result. Mr. J. E. Ives was the Returning-Officer, and presided at the chief polling-place.

CANTERBURY ELECTION.

The polling for the electoral district of Canterbury took place yesterday, and was exceedingly large, the number of votes cast being considerably greater than was expected. In Sydney a great deal of interest was felt in the election, and at the polling booth, at the Central Police Court, there were so many electors appearing to register their votes that the supply of voting papers ran out, and considerable delay was experienced before a fresh stock could be obtained. There were seven candidates for the two seats, and the excitement was well kept up during the day at the whole of the polling places. Towards six o'clock a very large crowd assembled at the chief polling place at Ashfield to hear the declaration of the poll, but it was not until a few minutes before seven that the Returning-Officer (Mr. Fred. Underwood, J.P.) made his appearance on the hustings, and announced the result of the poll as follows :—

W. H. Pigott	2513
W. Henson	1380
A. Allen	672
T. Courtney	622
G. Pile	493
M. M'Rae	232
G. Moss	56

Messrs. Pigott and Henson were declared duly elected, amidst great cheering from the crowd, which now numbered about 2500 persons. It will be seen that neither Mr. M'Rae nor Mr. G. Moss polled a sufficient number of votes to save the deposit necessary under the Act, so that the country will be the richer by £80 for their candidature. After the cheering had subsided,

Mr. PIGOTT said he spoke the honest truth when he told them that he could not find words to thank them sufficiently for the high honour hey thad paid him that day. (Cheers). He had been supported by friends from every class, and this would urge him forward in his duty to the electors, so that he might do all he could for every elector, no matter what his position might be. He was glad to be able to bear testimony to the fact that to the last this election had been conducted in a most straightforward manner by every candidate. (Cheers.) He hoped when he came before them at the dissolution they would see that he had endeavoured to do his duty ; and that when they had any grievances or desired anything done they would not hesitate to let him know. (Cheers.) He again thanked them from his very heart for the high honour they had conferred upon him. (Loud and prolonged applause.)

Mr. HENSON also thanked them for placing him in the position which he now occupied. His motto had always been to be "A friend to all, and an enemy to none," and that would be his motto still. (Cheers.) The ensuing Parliament would have a great work to do, and it would be his great desire to show them that they had made a good choice by doing the best he could for the electorate of Canterbury and the whole colony. (Cheers.)

Mr. A. ALLEN also responded, thanking those who had voted for him, and stating that he was not downcast at the result, which was only what had been experienced by many a better man than himself, including both the gentlemen who had now been returned. (Applause.)

Mr. Courtney, Mr. Pile, and Mr. M'Rae also responded; and a vote of thanks to the Returning-Officer was proposed by Mr. Pigott, and seconded by Mr. Henson, and carried by acclamation. Mr. Underwood responded, and the proceedings terminated with three cheers for the Queen.

Subjoined is a detailed statement of the polling through the electorate.

HAWKESBURY NOMINATION.

The nomination of candidates for the representation of the Hawkesbury electorate took place, at the Court-house, Windsor, yesterday, in the presence of about 400 persons. Mr. James B. Johnston officiated as Returning Officer, and having read the advertisement announcing that the nominations would take place, as well as the writ of election, he bespoke for each speaker a fair hearing.

After an interval of ten minutes, in consequence of neither candidate being willing to make the first address,

Mr. W. LINSLEY rose, and said he had much pleasure in nominating Mr. Henry M'Quade as a fit and proper person to represent the electorate. He believed that gentleman would represent them as they ought to be represented, for he had ability, time, and means to do so. Mr. M'Quade was a gentleman who if he made a promise would keep it, and he would be always in their district when they required him, and if they had a grievance he was sure he would endeavour to remedy it. They would not have to write to him three or four times asking him to attend to it. ("You don't know what you are talking about.")

Mr. C. R. BEDWELL seconded the nomination.

Mr. G. M. PITT nominated Mr. Alexander Bowman. He said that wherever he went, and no matter what pleasant places he saw, his heart returned untrammelled to Windsor. He was born on the banks of the Hawkesbury, that beautiful river, and having a large stake in the district his interests were identical with theirs, so what was good for them was good for him. He would not have come all the way from Sydney if he thought the candidates were endowed with equal qualifications. His desire was to see representing them a young man who knew something of agriculture—(cheers)—who knew something of sheep-farming, and, in addition, possessed some knowledge of the general requirements of the colony. He disapproved of a man inexperienced in these matters representing them. The gentleman he had nominated was reared amongst them, was respectable, and had been educated in the schools of the country, and consequently was well acquainted with their requirements. He knew his grandfather and grandmother—["Sool him"]—and from a long life of honour and integrity his father—["What about the brand on his forehead?"] And this, combined with a knowledge of Mr. Bowman's career of usefulness, induced him to nominate that gentleman. ["He only looked after his own interests."] They must not suppose he could obtain everything they wanted. They should be contented with what they could get, and with having their requirements well represented in proper quarters. If they studied their own interests, they would re-elect their old tried member—(boohoos and cheers)—and not a gentleman who had just come from England, with the strongest inclination to promise them everything.

Mr. W. WALKER seconded the nomination.

Mr. M'QUADE (who was received with cheers and other demonstrations of favour), said that unexpectedly he had been called upon to address them first, which he thought was hardly fair; but so it was, and they must stand by it. ["You can't expect anything else from him."] It was unfair of Mr. Bowman to call upon the boy first; but he had done so, and now he unwillingly yielded to the pressure. Mr. Bowman had said, at Wiseman's Ferry, that he had just come from England; that he was twenty-two years of age; that he had no experience whatever; and that he was a boy. ["You are a big boy."] Now, he was twenty-eight years of age; and with regard to experience and intellect, Mr. Bowman must have judged him from what he was himself at twenty-two years of age. (Cheers.) Mr. Pitt had spoken against putting a green colt into his vehicle, but he would ask that gentleman if he would put in a screw? He did not think so, and he thought the electors could not think so, because they had looked with favour upon him on a former occasion, while they had rejected Mr. Walker. He had commenced very favourably, and he hoped that on the following Friday they would again place him at the top of the poll. In the matter of proposer and seconder, it had not been necessary for him to go to Sydney for them, for he had found gentlemen of his own party at hand to do what was necessary, and thus had obviated the necessity of obtaining from Sydney for the purpose his poetical friend Mr. Pitt. In connection with this gentleman, he might state that on the occasion of the last election Mr. Pitt had addressed a letter to a friend of his, congratulating his party on his return, and, if necessary, they were prepared to produce it. On that occasion, also, he had been taunted by the Press with having touched almost solely on local matters, and with not having entered upon the general questions that would form the destinies of the country, but how with the example of an able politician leading the way could he do otherwise? [Mr. WALKER: The election was a farce.] It was not, but it would have been if the gentleman who spoke had been returned. Into the present contest he was pained to see introduced a religious cry, which was most contemptible. He did not intend to go into Parliament to form a religion for them. They could follow what religion they chose, and he demanded the same liberty for himself. Having referred to this religious cry, and suggested to them the evils which it was likely to create, he would proceed to explain his political views. Mr. Pitt said that he knew nothing of agriculture. With a little time, however, he hoped to know something of it, and to look after the interests of the agriculturists, as well as those of any other class. (Hear, hear.) And he would ask them, had Mr. Bowman spoken one word in their favour, although their interests were the principal ones in the electorate? The interests of the district were solely agricultural, and their member had done nothing to brighten them. He, however, claimed to be the first in the present contest to speak of them. To his mind, he would repeat that they should have reciprocal duties on produce. Some persons argued that by having protection they could also have free trade, and Mr. Bowman, who affirmed that he was a free trader to the back bone, said he would give protection to the farmers. ["That's what we want."] Another way, in his opinion, to brighten the prospects of the agriculturists would be to give bounties on the export of produce. If they could produce more than they could consume let them give bounties to those who shipped it. If that would not suit he would be inclined to fall back on protective reciprocity, and in addition to this he would say that he would like to see some protective fiscal policy applied to their native industries. The industries of this colony were like children—they required protection until they were able to go of themselves. For that reason he would like to see the Government have all the work done in the colony, and preliminas given to the manufacturers. After the industries were established he would not want to see them protected, and to those which could not obtain a firm footing in the colony he would not grant protection. So they would see that his views were not very stringent, so far as a severe fiscal policy was concerned. Such a policy as Victoria had adopted would do them harm. With regard to the land laws he would confess that he was not so well up in them as Mr. Bowman, because the amount of dumbuying which that gentleman had had to contend with had caused him to make a study of them. There was to his mind not the slightest doubt that the unalienated lands of the colony would have to be divided into pastoral and agricultural areas, when the squatters and free selectors would not interfere with each other's rights, while the laws would work in a more easy and oily manner. With regard to the conference said to have been held in Sydney by bona-fide selectors, he might say that with their movement he had no sympathy. The selectors had made a bargain with the State, and would, he believe, stand by it like honest men. He did not think the bona-fide selectors ever demanded a remission of interest. Probably many squatters who had bought out selectors would like to do so, because it would ease them in their bargains. The next question he desired to touch upon, and which he would ask them to listen to very attentively, was that of immigration. In a country like this there was not the slightest doubt that two things were absolutely necessary—capital and labour. The moment they found there was too much labour, it was their duty to prevent more coming here. He would not say they should prevent immigration altogether, and he would admit that the immigrants who came here were generally good men; and he would not, as Mr. Bowman did, brand them as the scum of London. ["What sort of scum is he?"] He must confess that he was sorry that that gentleman had done so. ["Where does he come from?"] Perhaps, however, Mr. Bowman would agree with him in liking to see men come here who had sufficient means to maintain them until their crops were ready for sale. They would not then be a burden on the rest of the colony. To go to the extent that Mr. Bowman had in voting £75,000 for immigration purposes, and to say subsequently that he wished it would not pass, would not suit his ideas. To say that the Government having spent the money necessitated its being voted was all nonsense. Alone Mr. Bowman should have voted against it. The Chinese question was the next one he desired to touch upon. He did not give it as a reason for opposing the race coming here that they married their girls. He was opposed to the influx because they overstocked their labour markets, and did not consume an equal quantity of articles with European labourers. If they were a noble race, as Sir Henry Parkes had said they were, they should retain their nobleness for the benefit of their own country, and endeavour to raise it to the standard of European countries. The fact of England having made treaties with China was no reason for ruining New South Wales. (Hear, hear.) And now he came to a question perhaps more interesting to others than to them; he meant that of Civil service reform. The present arrangements were such that the service contained a number of men of ability who had no influence to push them on. If some measure could be devised and introduced by which promotion would be proportionate to merit and ability, and which would prevent men who had no ability fitting them for high positions from attaining them, he would support it. He now came to local matters, one of which was a water supply, and in respect of this they had not much to grumble about, although he would admit that their supply might be improved. ["There is law for that."] The next matter was local option, in regard to which he feared men who conducted their houses properly for years might be unfairly deprived of their licenses, unless great care were taken. If men overstepped the bounds of order and respectability, or they applied for new licenses, local option might be permitted to determine whether they were or were not fit to keep houses. So far he would cordially support any measure, and he would have no objection to Mr. Bowman's suggestion that licensing should be conducted by boards, each consisting of a police magistrate and two gentlemen elected by the people. Now they came to the measures passed last session, the first of which was the Electoral Act. This Act had not done justice to the electorate of the Hawkesbury. Had it done so they would have had the extreme pleasure of electing two candidates, instead of hooting one and cheering the other. It had been said that the £40 deposit clause would prevent the nomination of bogus candidates; but it did not do this absolutely, because a man could canvass the district and put his opponent to great expense, and retire without depositing his £40 or being nominated. The clause, therefore, was of no effect. Mr. Bowman had voted in favour of it, and had repented doing so shortly afterwards, and he would ask them if it were a good thing to send in a gentleman who would vote in a hurry, and five minutes afterwards be sorry for doing so? The next subject on his list was that of railway extension. He believed railways were as necessary to a colony like this as veins to a man's body. They would open up and increase the value of land; and if the Illawarra line could be constructed before any other, he did not see why it should be opposed. He had been accused of attempting to hoodwink them on the Education Act. Well, now he pledged himself to support it in its present form and entirety. He would oppose anything contrary to it. That surely was not hoodwinking them? ["No, no."] Finally, he desired to say, that he was averse to taxing dogs that assisted their owners in earning a living. He had told them his opinions honestly, and by those opinions he hoped to succeed. All he asked for was a fair field and no favour—(cheers)—and given these he believed he would be returned. (Cheers.)

Mr. BOWMAN was received with cheers, long continued. He said that it gave him great pleasure to appear before them again to seek their suffrages—(cheers)—for the electorate was enlarged—the Windsor and Richmond districts having been incorporated in it; and if they did him the honour to return him he would have the gratification of representing the town in which he was born and the one in which he was educated. He could not understand who could have said that he had stated that Mr. M'Quade was only a boy. (Laughter.) As to what he had said at other meetings he could understand how that had got about. There had been a little gentleman planted behind the doors and under the willow trees, taking notes, and who conveyed them to Mr. M'Quade, and thus that gentleman had been enabled to deal with his speeches as well as he could himself. He had, however, been friendly with Mr. M'Quade, and hoped to shake hands with him after the contest. The only point of difference between them was the thought on his part that he could represent the Hawkesbury better than Mr. M'Quade could. (Laughter.) He had been their member for some time, and from the first he must tell them a little of what he had done in the past, hoping that if something slipped out which might appear unfriendly to Mr. M'Quade, they would take no notice of it. They had a reporter from the Herald this time, and he hoped he would give him a fair and unbiassed record of his speech. They knew that when he went into the House Sir John Robertson was at the head of affairs, and that subsequently a vote of censure was brought forward, upon which he was beaten. ["You helped to do it."] He voted for Sir John Robertson, and proud he was of having done so. He tried to keep that gentleman in power. Subsequently, the Farnell Administration was formed, that, after having passed no measures at all, was thrown out on its Land Bill. Sir John Robertson was sent for again, but acted very foolishly in wanting to put back the same men. This the House would not stand, and Sir John resigned and left it. Sir Henry Parkes was then called upon, and he formed the coalition Ministry. At the time this was bad policy, but the coalition was formed, and out of it good had come. During the last eighteen months some of the finest measures ever passed in the country became law—a Municipalities Act for Sydney, a Sewerage Bill, a Water Supply Bill, an Amended Land Bill, the Electoral Bill, and the grandest measure that Australia would ever see—the Public Schools Act. (Cheers.) ["That'll carry you in."] He would support the Public Schools Act. He had been opposed to hurriedly sweeping away Denominational interests, but now these had two years to live. He had been in favour of free education, but he hoped the Act as it was would prove to them and to their children one of the greatest blessings Sir Henry Parkes had ever brought forth, and that candidates would give to that gentleman all the support that lay in their power in connection with it. It should have the fairest possible trial; and if after the Denominational schools were done away with, and after it had been fairly tested, other politicians might arise who would make it more favourable to the poor men, and more beneficial in outlying districts, towards making it have this effect he would give his assistance. There was a lot of funny little things that could spoil the bill, and they must guard against them. A great many people were in favour of payment by results, which might be introduced by an amending clause. ["You can't do it."] They could, of course—could add a fresh clause to it. It would be better to leave education to the Denominationalists than to introduce the system of payment by results. He was in favour of technical schools, the establishment of which he hoped the Minister for Education would speedily promote. He had voted for a tax on their imported wines when the Government had proposed it, and also for one on English beer and porter and American tobacco, but when they commenced to tax their natural products he said no, he would not be a party to their doing so. It would have been a hardship to tax their own beer, for poor people took their glass regularly. ["Why don't you tax the squatter?"] He would come to that presently. After the Government found they could not pay their excise duties they said they were broken, and had no money in the Treasury, which was humbug. They tried to tax wool, coal, and stock, but the House fought against the proposal so persistently that they had to withdraw it. He was not a believer in local option to the same extent as some people, for he did not think it would work well as a general system. The country benches of licensing magistrates, he believed, had acted very fairly; but in Sydney some disgraceful scenes had been presented. The best thing to have was a judge and a police-magistrate and two or three gentlemen elected every year by the people to constitute a licensing board—an institution which had worked well in other countries. ["It won't do."] There could be no packing of the Bench then. Next on his list came the remission of interest. The proposal that the State should agree to this amounted to repudiation to a degree that would be foolish to listen to. It arose principally from those who had dummied, who would have the money to the good if it were agreed to. He did not think any small holders were in favour of it. (Hear, hear.) Immigration was a question upon which it appeared he had offended some one. He had told them when they returned him before that he would not be a party to spending £300,000 a year for immigration purposes, as Mr. Piddington proposed to be. He said he would be a party to voting £50,000 or £100,000, and the House had voted £75,000, for the Government had spent that amount, and it was no use voting against it. Some of the immigrants in his service told him they had been sent to all the gaols in England, and supposed they would reach all the gaols here, and these appeared to him to be scum; but he never said that the immigrants generally were the scum of London. The Government, in his opinion, should have obtained the sanction of the House for the expenditure before this was incurred. He would have voted against the £75,000 had it come to a vote; but he would like to see men with capital coming here and proceeding to the interior to settle down; or he would very much like to see coming here men accustomed to farming pursuits in England, who would assist them in getting their crops off the ground, and save money, and take up farms for themselves. ["There are too many here now."] A great many knocked about the streets, and it was a pity to see them. ["You don't employ them; you employ blackfellows."] As to the Chinese question, he was opposed to Chinamen coming here unless there was a poll-tax on them. The different colonies should meet and agree upon some plan by which they would all work together on this subject. If a bill were brought in properly dealing with the subject, he would certainly give it his support if he were returned. As Britons, however, he was sure they would not wish to turn out the Chinese who were in the colony. It had been said of him that he had taken no action to prevent a tax being placed upon corn. He thought it high time something was done in this matter, and he thought the Government should put a tax on hay coming to the colony. The members of agricultural bodies should form a union to insist upon reciprocity. He was a free trader, but he would like to see colonial industries fostered, and would be a party to assist in something being done to secure equality. [At this stage a lively fight transpired in the audience, between two men.] It was said by some that he had never looked after the wants of the district, but everywhere he had gone the people appeared satisfied with what he had done. Let them remember what he did to secure a dredge for them, and to improve the navigation of the Hawkesbury. Let them also remember his efforts to secure two members for the electorate, and to secure increased railway accommodation. If he were elected he would endeavour to benefit Windsor as well as any other place. As far as railways were concerned, he was in favour of running them into the interior as far as possible, and connecting the colonies by means of them; and he was also in favour of branch lines to where there was a sufficiency of population. He was also in favour of a dog tax. ["Are you in favour of trains on Sundays?"] On the suburban portion of the lines he was. ["Did you vote for the gagging clause in the Electoral Bill?"] He had; but, on second thoughts, and after some conversation with several members of Parliament, he expressed a hope that it would be thrown out. (Cheers.)

The show of hands was declared in favour of Mr. Bowman, and a poll being demanded, the Returning-Officer stated that one would take place on Friday, the 26th instant.

The Returning-Officer was thanked for his impartial conduct, and cheers having been given for the Queen, the crowd dispersed without further tumult.

NEWCASTLE ELECTION.

NEWCASTLE, MONDAY.

At the Newcastle election, the result of the polling was :—

James Fletcher	1876
George Alfred Lloyd	1195
James Cole Ellis	1012
Dr. Bowker	830

The Returning-Officer made the above announcement shortly before 6 o'clock this evening, and declared Messrs. Fletcher and Lloyd duly elected. The greatest excitement prevailed in the city all day, and when the declaration was made there must have been quite 4000 people present.

After the poll was declared and the candidates had addressed one of the grandest gatherings that ever assembled in Newcastle, the people took possession of Mr. Fletcher and Mr. Lloyd and placed them in a boat which was lashed on to a cart, and, with the band playing appropriate airs, they were conducted through the principal streets of Newcastle. Mr. Lloyd was left at Galley's Hotel and Mr. Fletcher was taken to the Herald Office. After tea a crowd assembled at the Great Northern Hotel, and with the band playing "See the Conquering Hero comes," they took Mr. Lloyd down to his committee rooms, where from the balcony of Galley's Hotel he addressed them at some length. The Mayor, Mr. Chapman, Mr. Grisdale and other gentlemen spoke, after which the vast audience dispersed.

Only two returns are to come in. There was considerable excitement here, but admirable order at every polling-place.

TENTERFIELD ELECTION.

TENTERFIELD, MONDAY.

The election to-day caused great excitement at Tenterfield. The results thus far are—Mr. Dillon 225, and Mr. Christie 94; at Deepwater, Mr. Dillon 28, and Mr. Christie 2; at Willson's Downfall, Mr. Dillon 24, and Mr. Christie 23. The other returns are not yet in; but they cannot alter the result.

DURHAM ELECTION.

DUNGOG, MONDAY.

The following are the results of the polling for this district :—Mr. H. H. Brown—Dungog, 89; Clarencetown, 9; Bandon Grove, 41; Brookfield, 19; Paterson, 173; Waugat, 37; Underbank, 48: total, 416. Mr. Johnston—Dungog, 124; Clarencetown, 166; Bandon Grove, 12; Brookfield, 87; Paterson, 4; Waugat, 3; Underbank, 2: total, 348. Majority for Brown, 68. Eccleston, Gresford, and Seaham are not included in this. It is reported that if Mr. Johnston is defeated he will stand for Gloucester.

YOUNG ELECTION.

YOUNG, MONDAY.

The state of the poll was announced, from the balcony of the Royal Hotel, at various times from 4 to 6 o'clock this afternoon, as each return came in. No official declaration has up to the present time been made. The formal declaration is announced to take place at noon to-morrow. The numbers at the various polling-places are :—

Dinga is not in yet, but it will not affect the result.

CARCOAR ELECTION.

CARCOAR, MONDAY.

The polling for this district was carried on all day amidst a great deal of excitement. The returns received up to the present show that Mr. E. A. Baker has polled 1014; Lynch, 674; W. H. Suttor, 606. The returns from ten places have yet to come in. The poll is to be declared to-morrow. During the excitement of a free fight, a man named Edward M'Mavon, blacksmith, broke his leg.

ILLAWARRA ELECTION.

WOLLONGONG, MONDAY.

The nomination for Illawarra took place on Saturday, and, there being no opposition to Mr. Alexander Stuart that gentleman was declared elected.

EAST MAITLAND ELECTION.

EAST MAITLAND, MONDAY.

The nomination for the electoral district of East Maitland was held in the Courthouse to-day, and was well attended. Mr. Alexander Brown acted as Returning-officer, and read the writ and advertisement by which he had convened the meeting. Mr. James Nixon Brunker was nominated by Mr. George Thomas Chambers, and seconded by Mr. John Ewing. There being no other candidate, Mr. Brunker was declared by the Returning-officer to be duly elected. Mr. Brunker spoke at some length in returning thanks, giving the expression of his political views as announced by him at his various meetings throughout the electorate. He thanked them most cordially for the honourable position in which they had placed him, and he would never lose their confidence from want of desire on his part to serve them faithfully. He would do his utmost to advance their best interest. He concluded by proposing a vote of thanks to the Returning-officer, which was carried by acclamation. The proceedings closed with three cheers for the Queen.

WELLINGTON ELECTION.

WELLINGTON, MONDAY.

At the nomination to-day Mr. Edmund Barton was returned without opposition. He was proposed by Alderman Prdham and seconded by Mr. Alderman Kennard. The proceedings were very orderly.

GRAFTON NOMINATION.

GRAFTON, MONDAY.

At the nomination to-day, Messrs. John See and Richard Stevenson were nominated—the former proposed by E. M. Ryan, J.P., seconded by F. W. Chapman; the latter proposed by S. Avery, seconded by A. Cameron. Both candidates were well received, but with slight intermixture of groans. The show or hands was about 70 for Stevenson, and fully 200 for See. About 600 persons present.

PATRICK'S PLAINS NOMINATION.

SINGLETON, MONDAY.

At the nomination the show of hands was in Mr. John Brown's favour. The meeting at times was very disorderly, owing to the introduction of the religious question by Mr. Burnett. Mr. John Brown was nominated by Mr. W. Burnett, and seconded by Mr. Ralph Millar. Mr. W. C. Browne was nominated by Mr. Alex. Munro, and seconded by Mr. John Campbell.

ORANGE NOMINATION.

ORANGE, MONDAY.

At the nomination to-day, Mr. Kerr was proposed by Mr. George M'Kay, J.P., seconded by Mr. Cornwall; Mr. W. Clarke was proposed by Mr. A. Murry, seconded by Mr. J. Windred; Mr. T. Dalton was proposed by Mr. J. C. M'Lachlan, seconded by Dr. Codrington. The show of hands was in favour of Messrs. Kerr and Dalton. Mr. Clarke demanded a poll.

MOLONG NOMINATION.

MOLONG, MONDAY.

The nomination took place to-day. Dr. Ross was proposed by Mr. D. Hudson and seconded by Mr. J. R. Ardill. Mr. John Smith was proposed by Mr. Wynne, Mayor of Molong, and seconded by Mr. Lamson of Cudal. There was great excitement during the address of Dr. Ross. The show of hands was largely in favour of Mr. Smith, and Dr. Ross demanded a poll.

ARGYLE NOMINATION.

CROOKWELL, MONDAY.

A very strong gale of wind was blowing all day and the speakers had much difficulty in being heard from the hustings. About 150 people assembled at noon, when J. S. Morgan proposed and Francis Gilmartin seconded Mr. Walsh; S. Cox proposed and John Broderick seconded Mr. Heydon; T. Marsden proposed and James Worrall seconded Mr. Myers; John Howard proposed and James Bray seconded Mr. Connolly; Isaac Shepherd proposed and James Henderson seconded Mr. Holborrow. The candidates then addressed the electors in order nominated. Each gave a recapitulation of his views as previously laid before the electors in different parts of the country. A few interruptions were indulged in, but the electors listened patiently during four hours to the candidates' speeches. At 4 o'clock a show of hands was taken, which resulted in favour of Messrs. Heydon and Connolly; next in order were Holborrow and Myers equal, and Walsh last. Holborrow and Myers demanded a poll. A vote of thanks to the Returning-Officer and cheers for the Queen and the candidates brought the meeting to a conclusion.

INVERELL NOMINATION.

INVERELL, MONDAY.

The nominations for the Inverell electorate were held today, at the Masonic Hall; Mr. Hindmarsh acting as Returning-Officer. Mr. John M'Kenzie proposed Mr. R. L. Murray as a fit and proper person to represent the Inverell electorate in the new Parliament. Mr. S. N. Moore, J.P., of Tingha, seconded the nomination, and both gentlemen made very complimentary speeches in favour of Mr. Murray. Mr. Colin Ross, J.P., proposed Mr. Maclean, and Mr. Thomas Harland, J.P., seconded that nomination. Both candidates addressed the electors. Mr. Murray spoke first and received a good hearing, and was loudly cheered. Mr. Maclean's address consisted of nothing but a tirade of abuse of Mr. Murray. The meeting would not listen to him, and scarcely a sentence was spoken without interruption and disorder. The show of hands was in favour of Mr. Murray, and Mr. Maclean demanded a poll.

EDEN NOMINATION.

BEGA, MONDAY.

To-day at the nomination meeting Mr. Solomon presided. Mr. Rawlinson proposed and Mr. Wood seconded Mr. Clarke; Mr. Shiels proposed and Mr. O'Reilly seconded Mr. Garvan; Mr. Stiles proposed and Mr. Haywood seconded Mr. Manning; Mr. Craine proposed and Mr. Rixon seconded Mr. Hutchinson in the good templar interest. Messrs. Clarke, Garvan, and Manning addressed the electors. Mr. Hutchinson was not present, and the show of hands was in favour of Messrs. Clarke and Garvan. A poll was demanded on behalf of the others. The appearance of the fourth candidate complicates matters, as the Templars will probably vote in a body. The general impression is that Messrs. Clarke and Garvan will be returned.

This afternoon Mr. Garvan spoke here before a large audience. He expressed himself strongly in favour of an amendment of the land laws, and of deriving sufficient rents from pastoral tenants on secured tenure. He favours the remission of interest, as no other colony charges it, and such charges were handicapping the selectors of this colony unfairly against Victoria and Queensland. He favours creating moderate size pastoral holdings and improved arrangements whereby borrowers would not necessarily part with the whole title, but would have power to mortgage the same as a freehold. He supports the Public Instruction Act as far as the principal clauses being willed by majority of the House, though, however, as an Act it went further than necessary, removing the control from the Council. He strongly favours the construction of a railway to connect the splendid port of Twofold Bay with Bega, Monaro, and the south-eastern parts of Victoria. He was in favour of free trade, and opposed the Chinese immigration. He would support a well considered scheme for the importation of a proper class of emigrants from the United Kingdom. A vote of confidence was passed by a large majority.

Mr. Clarke held a meeting later, and was well received. He detailed the measures passed by the last Parliament, which were impossible but for the Parkes and Robertson coalition. He approved of the electorates getting increased representation, and denounced Mr. Garrett's gagging clause strongly. He was a supporter of the Education Bill, and would oppose any attempt to tamper with its provisions, but he would go for free secular, and compulsory education, and advocated improved land laws. He was a supporter of the remission of interest, which he advocated three years ago, when visiting the district. He would insist on fair rents for runs on assured tenure, and would create smaller pastoral holdings. He was a free trader in full, firmly believing that the condition of Victoria renders strong arguments against protection. He was strongly against the payment of members and approves of the immigration of a proper class. He would tax the Chinese arriving here. He strongly favoured the creation of municipality shire councils, thus relieving the central Government of much work and the members of much worry. A vote of confidence was expressed.

HARTLEY NOMINATION.

LITHGOW, MONDAY.

The nomination of candidates for the representation of the electorate of Hartley in the new Parliament took place at the Court-house, Hartley, at noon to-day. The electorate was well represented, numbers having flocked in from the surrounding district. Mr. Thomas G. Walker, who officiated as Returning-officer, commenced the proceedings by reading the writ for the election. He asked a fair and impartial hearing for the various speakers. Mr. F. Raymond proposed the nomination of Mr. Walter Scott Target, and recommended that gentleman to the electors for the active part he had always taken in the advancement of coal interests. Mr. A. Anderson seconded the nomination. Mr. T. T. Wilton had much pleasure in nominating John Hurley, a gentleman who he pointed out had proved a most useful and energetic representative of the electorate. Mr. James Graham, of Oberon, seconded the nomination. The Hon. W. B. Piddington, M.L.C., nominated Robert Palmer Abbott. He said the district of Hartley was a very old district, and returned some of the most able men in the history of the colony. The last lawyer who was returned for Hartley was their present Chief Justice; and he felt sure Mr. Abbott if returned would emulate the industry and ability of S

The Vibilia, schooner, 108 tons, owned in Sydney, and in charge of J. Freer, has been lost while on a beche-de-mer fishing voyage, at the Louisades Archipelago, all hands saved.

The schooner Annie Brooks, of Cooktown, has been captured by the natives of Brooker Island, and Captain Foreman and the crew have been murdered.

The very great falling off, during the last few years, of the passenger traffic by sailing vessels between these colonies and the United Kingdom (says the Australian Shipping News) has left each voyage a long array of empty cabins which, useless any longer in their original capacity, are looked upon by captains and ship agents as so much additional cargo and freight-earning space; there has, therefore, gradually arisen a practice when an excess of cargo is offered, as during the present season, of stowing wool and other such perishable goods in the empty deckhouses and saloon cabins of sailing vessels. This practice has not escaped the attention of the committee of the Merchant Shipping and Underwriters's Association, Melbourne, who, recognising the far greater risk of damage to merchandize thus stowed, have adopted a resolution which has been circulated among the shipping firms of Melbourne and Geelong, to the effect that they disapprove of such a practice, and that their surveyors have received instructions to report in all cases where wool or similar cargo is stowed above hatches, when steps will be taken to see that this particular cargo shall not be covered under ordinary policies of insurance.

Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil.—Its Great Value as a Nutrient for Weakly Children.—In cases of languid and imperfect nutrition often observed in children, the surprising efficacy of Dr. de Jongh's Oil is thus described by Dr. Edward Carey: "It is in the diseases incidental to childhood that mainly depend on the mal-assimilation of the food in the pale cachectic child, when the anxious practitioner has exhausted the whole range of alteratives and tonics, that Dr. de Jongh's Cod Liver Oil will come in and satisfy his most sanguine expectations. Where the powers of life are low it affords nourishment to the body when none other can be borne; it furnishes the frame with fat in a truly wonderful manner; and administered as it is in Holland, to the delicate and puny child who, though not considered ill, is in that state of impaired health which would favour the development of disease, its extraordinary effects will soon be visible, after having taken it for a short period, in a return to health and strength which were before unknown, and which will be accomplished by no other remedy with which we are acquainted." Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil is sold only in capsuled imperial half-pints, pints, and quarts, by all chemists and druggists. Sole consignees, Ainsay, Hartford, and Co., 77, Strand, London. Agents at Sydney, Elliott, Brothers.—Adv.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

MONDAY EVENING.

On the Stock Exchange a considerable number of transactions was reported. The firmness in Bank stock noted at the end of last week was established, and sales at higher rates were made: Joint Stock were quitted at 16, sellers at close at 16¼, buyers 15½; City were dealt in at 12, sellers afterwards at 12½, buyers 11½; Commercial sold at 105, sellers' quotations being advanced to 106, buyers 104½; Mercantile realized 6, and New South Wales 54 and 54½; for New Zealand, 20¾ given (New Zealand register), 21 asked on Sydney register, 20¾ offered; Queensland National brought 7¾ and £7 11s. 6d.; Union for sale at 65, buyers 64. In Steam no business was reported: Australasian offered at 18½, buyers 18¼; Clarence and Richmond for sale at 4¼, buyers at 4; Hunter River (new) offered at 7½, buyers at 7¼; Illawarra held for 6, buyers at 5½; North Shore Ferry had sellers at 17, buyers 16½. Insurance stock were not dealt in and quoted about the same as last week: For Accident 1s. 6d. asked, 1s. 2d. offered; Australian General had buyers at 80s., and Australian Mutual at 8s. 6d., no selling quotations for either; City Mutual offered at 1s. 4d., buyers 1s. 1d.; Mercantile Mutual, buyers at 1s. 5d., sellers 1s. 9d.; New South Wales Marine had buyers at 73s. 6d., sellers 79s.; Pacific offered at 64s. 6d., buyers at 63s 6d.; for Sydney Fire 72s. offered, no sellers; Sydney Marine held for 35s., wanted at 32s.; United offered at 46s., buyers 44s. For Australian Gaslight 14¾ asked, 14¼ offered, and 6 wanted for new issue. Sydney Exchange had buyers at 9, no sellers. Pyrmont Bridge had sellers at 7¼, buyers 6¾. New South Wales Shale and Oil salable at 10s., buyers at 9s. In Coal, Wallsend offered at 14¼, buyers at 14; Waratah had sellers at 7¾, buyers 7½; Vale of Clwydd realized 16s. 9d. Great Cobar Copper were dealt in at 80s. and 80s. 6d., and 81s. 6d. asked at close. For Krohmann's Gold 2s. 6d. asked, 2s. offered; Star of Peace wanted at 8s., sellers 8s. 9d.; Band and Albion Consols sold at 5¼, and afterwards offered at 5½, buyers 5¾. For Volunteer land orders, £140 asked, £135 offered.

Messrs. Malhado and Curtis report having received the following telegram from the Band and Albion Consols Mine:—"760 tons crushed for the week, yielding 889 oz. 2 dwts. of gold."

In the Import markets yesterday a fair amount of business was done. Breadstuffs are firm, owing to the comparative scarcity of flour in Adelaide, and the unfavourable reports respecting the early wheat crops in South Australia. Adelaide wheat is quoted nominally at 5s., but the market is bare; Victorian is selling at 4s. 9d. For flour there was a steady trade demand. Best Adelaide quoted at from £11 to £12, and country brands of South Australian £10 10s. to £10 15s.; New South Wales flour, £11 to £11 10s.; Victorian, £10 5s. to £10 10s. Five medal candles are firm at 8¾d. Considerable sales of currants have been made at 6¼d. Klemes are firm at late quotations. A small line of dried apples brought up to 9d. In fish we hear of the sale of 500 cases salmon in bond, for export, at 6s. 6d. Albert sardines moving off at 8s. 1½d. for halves, and 5s. 1½d. for quarters. Whybrow's Eagle pickles dealt in at 7s. 7½d. New Kent hops selling at 1s. 10d. to 2s., and Tasmanian at 1s. 6d. A trade lot of cream of tartar to arrive, was quitted at 1s. 4½d. Coarse Liverpool salt commands £4 10s. Sales of trade lots of galvanised iron made at £24 10s. Pig iron sold at £4 to £4 2s. 6d. White Cross fencing wire, No. 10, quitted at £7, and No. 8 at £15. A line of wire nails realized 19s. In liquors, Hennessy's Three Star is scarce and improving; One Star selling at 36s. 6d. Maricll's is moving at 11s. Guinness' Crown stout selling at 9s. and 8s., and Tennant's ale at 8s. 6d. and 5s. 6d.

To-morrow Messrs. Fraser and Co. will offer at their sale rooms, a shipment of skirting, architraves, mouldings, and doors, and two cargoes of Kauri, in flooring, planking, and in the rough.

This afternoon Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin at their stores submitted a catalogue of wool comprising 2500 bales, of which 1400 were sold. The competition was not so brisk as at the previous sales, and prices, particularly for the better sorts, were not so good—a fact attributed in part to the high freights demanded, the vessels on the berth for the February sales having nearly all their cargoes engaged. Prices ranged from 11d. to 14d., for good and light; 9d. to 10½d. for ordinary to good; fleece from 15d. to 19d., no good lots of wool offered; scoured, none catalogued. The following are the principal lots sold:—Greasy: H. Lord, at 14d.; qR over Tiverton, at 12½d.; over TN, at 12d.; Goodwood, at 12d.; JMK, at 11d.; AS over A, at 9¾d.; FS over Anybrogle, at 10½d.; TB over DUN, at 12d.; Fleece: H in circle, at 19d.; JTO, at 18½d.; EL, at 18d.; Fb, at 17½d.; IH over T, at 18¾d.; B in diamond, at 16¼d. Sheepskins were fully a half-penny easier than they were a week ago; the lots offered were principally of a medium character. Best sold up to 6¼d.

At the Homebush Yards, to-day, from 800 to 900 cattle were sold by auction, and prices receded about 10s. per head below the rates obtained at Friday's sales. Best beef realized about 12s. per 100. 9000 sheep were penned, and in this description of stock also a fall in prices took place to the extent of fully 6d. per head. Best wethers were quitted at 7s. 6d.; best ewes, 7s.

The Argus of Friday says that "shipments of drapery for the summer season from Great Britain to Victoria are assuming rather unhealthy proportions, being on 25th September £1,885,740, as compared with £1,181,656 for the corresponding period of 1879. Some years ago an increase of £204,084 would not have been considered too much for the market to absorb, but latterly steamer freights and heavier duties enhance the cost of laying down goods so much that anything like the increase reported means really a much larger value here."

"The sugar market, for the produce of the new crop, can only be said to have fairly opened about three weeks ago—it being less than a month since the new sugars reached Port Louis in sufficiently important quantities to cause a regular current of business on a steady basis as regards prices. The first large purchasers to enter the market were the native shippers for Bombay, who, on commencing operations, paid extreme rates for extra white crystals. As much as 17 rupees per 50 kilogs was given in some cases. As, however, the Indian firms had the market almost entirely to themselves, they combined, and forced sellers to grant easier conditions, notwithstanding that quite recently the European houses have begun purchasing for the Australian markets. We now quote sugars as follows:—White crystals, extra fine, 16·20 rupees to 16.30 rupees per 50 kilogs; ditto ditto, very fine, 15·50 rupees to 15·80 rupees ditto; ditto ditto, good to fine, 15 rupees to 15·30 rupees ditto; soft white counters, good to finest, 15·50 rupees to 16·20 rupees ditto; yellow crystals, finest, 15·20 rupees to 15·60 rupees ditto; ditto ditto, 2nd quality, 14·50 rupees to 15 rupees ditto; finest counters, 15·20 rupees to 15.50 rupees ditto; good to fine ditto, 14·50 rupees to 15 rupees ditto; ditto ditto browns, 12 rupees to 13.50 rupees ditto; low to middling rupees to 11·50 rupees ditto. Australian Produce.—Horses: None have been received here during the last few weeks, and I am therefore unable to give any reliable prices. Good Australian horses would meet with a fair inquiry. Salt Beef: The market for Australian beef is recovering, and a sale has just been effected at 46 rupees for barrels, and 66 rupees for tierces. This was for a shipment of good quality, per Ardentinny, from your colonies; inferior beef has been selling at 15 per cent. to 20 per cent. under these rates. Tallow: Australian, in casks, is quoted at 26 rupees to 28 rupees. The stock is moderate, but the inquiry has a tendency to fall off. Butter: Australian, in boxes, not obtainable. French, in 1-lb. to 5-lb. boxes, is quoted at 56 rupees to 58 rupees per 50 kilogs."

The value of the Imports at the port of Sydney for the week ended the 13th November, 1880, amounted to £145,687, of which the principal items are:—

Apparel and drapery, £21,687; beer, £706; brandy, £544; boots and shoes, £5881; copper ore, £600; dried fruits, £910; flour, £1152; gold, £6580; hops, £680; hardware, £4466; iron rails, £1021; live stock, £620; malt, £1750; oilmen's stores, £4340; pearl shell, £4172; rice, £1146; sugar, £3211; skins and hides, £2289; tallow, £2891; tobacco and cigars, £70; tin ore, £1540; tin ingots, £10,540; timber, £709; vine, £649; wheat, £817; wool, £12,680.

The value of Exports for the same period amounted to £236,834, of which the principal items are:—

Wool, £104,809; coin, £55,739; copper, £16,072; tin, £7852; tallow, £2089; drapery, £1836; fruit (green), £3748; fancy goods, £2648; boots and shoes, £2411; maize, £2403; hardware, £2307; rice, £2143; leather, £1508; books and stationery, £1456; hides, £1455; flour, £967; spirits, £942; iron, £831; live stock, £717; copra, £693; earthenware, £667; drugs, £681; mineral ore, £665; butter, £631; saddlery, £619; wine, £609; preserved meats, £600.

they are being honestly administered. Yet, though apparently disposed to leave well alone, he thinks the laws would do still better if they were altered, and if the system of homestead areas were adopted to minimize the frequent conflicts between selectors and leaseholders. This acceptance of indiscriminate selection and preference for limited selection bears some analogy to the fiscal policy of those candidates who entirely approve of free trade, but who think it would be better if accompanied by such ad valorem duties as would effectually encourage local manufactures.

The principle of homestead areas is no doubt reasonably well adapted to the circumstances of this colony; but it means the selection by the Government of the areas most suitable for settlement, and the preparation of these areas for settlement by judicious survey. It means, also, that there shall be no unnecessary hostility between the selector and the squatter, inasmuch as the Government undertakes to eject the pastoral lessee before the homestead area is thrown open for settlement.

But precisely because this is a reasonable system it is in opposition to that of indiscriminate selection. If the one system is good, the other system is bad. If free selection is best after survey, then it is not best before survey. If it is best that homestead areas should be chosen and marked out for settlement, then it cannot be best that no such areas should be designated. If it is best that the Government dispossesses the selector before it invites the freeholder on to the ground, then it cannot be best that the selector should be urged to go in and win what he can from the squatter. The two systems proceed upon radically different principles; in the one case the Government takes the initiative, and, to some extent, controls the course of settlement: in the other case it leaves the initiative to the individual, and leaves him to help himself and do the best he can.

The argument usually urged against homestead areas is that it limits the selector's range of choice. But to say that does not settle the question, because the whole point raised for consideration is whether such a limitation is not for the public interest. We are all limited by the laws in almost every direction, and these limitations are only blamable when they are unnecessary or impolitic. We have an area to manage of about two hundred millions of acres. The grass that grows upon this land is the basis of the great industry of the colony, and it is to everybody's interest that the land should be occupied as profitably as possible to the individual, and at as good a rent as possible to the State, until it is wanted for bona fide freehold purchase. Let it be granted that the maximum rental to the State and the maximum profit to the individual can only be realized by putting some limitation on the right of free selection. Still, if that limitation is in the public interest, it is proper that it should exist. It is quite clear from the views of candidates, and the way in which those views have been received by the electors, that the country at large sees now what it did not see in 1861, that indiscriminate free selection stands in the way of the maximum public rental to the Government, and the maximum private profit to the lessee. It is evident now even to those who have only superficially studied the land question, that the squatters would pay more money for a better tenure, and that they would be better off then than they are now. It is evident, also, that if the State does not get the money from the land in the way of rental, it must either get it from fresh taxation or by unnaturally forcing the sales. It is evident, also, that the collision between squatter and free selector has stimulated every possible evasion of the law, and has led both parties to strain their credit to the utmost, so as to grab what land they can while they may. The results hoped for from the law have only been very partially realized, while we have gained a state of things which is full of trouble for the future. We have had the eyes of the country picked out, the cost of survey unnecessarily exaggerated, and settlements scattered instead of being concentrated. We have seen selectors clamouring for the repudiation of their bargain with the State, while at the same time an enormous area taken up by their class, nominally for independent little freeholds, has gone to swell the size of great pastoral freeholds: and we have seen immense areas pass en bloc into the hands of private parties. No candid student of our affairs professes to say that what has been done has been beneficial to the moral or material welfare of the people: no one professes to think that this state of things is hopeful for the future, and when an effective remedy is proposed, is it enough to say that such a remedy will put some limitation on the choice of the selector? Is it not better that there should be some such limitation than that we should be losing a million a year in public rentals, and that the scramble between squatter and selector should be intensified, as it will be if the present system is continued?

The public has undoubtedly had a warning at this general election by the coincidence of Mr. WATSON's demand for fresh taxes with the free selectors' demand for the remission of interest on balances. The TREASURER wanted to put on fresh burdens to the amount of at least £200,000 a year, and the selectors wanted to shake off liabilities which will soon be worth to the Treasury £400,000 a year. When principles touch people's pockets they are on the high road to being understood; and there can be no doubt that at this election the taxpayers have had their eyes opened to the finance of the land laws to an extent which has never been the case before.

In his nomination speech at Camden Mr. GARRETT proposed some further changes in the land laws, to which we cannot take any particular objections, as they harmonise with suggestions we long ago made ourselves. He proposes to turn the grazing area into a lease, with right of purchase. Any rational method of altering the present tenure of the grazing area would be an advantage. The system as it stands is particularly unsuitable as an addendum to the system of pastoral holdings, and practice has brought out its weak points. Sir JOHN ROBERTSON himself admits that it is bad, but excuses himself for having continued it on the ground that he found it in existence, and did not see his way clear to abolish it. When he abolished so much more he might have abolished this. However, he did not; and the problem for the present race of politicians is to consider what is best to be done under the circumstances. The grazing right is held on a very bad tenure. The selector dare not fence it in, because it is open to auction and selection, and an unfenced paddock is a perpetual trap. It would be difficult to contrive an arrangement better calculated to foster bad blood between neighbours. Whatever may be decided as to the area to which future selections should be limited, there would be many advantages in giving to existing selectors fixed leases of their grazing rights, and a right of purchase, provided that if they held under the old tenure of indefinite credit they paid up the balance of the purchase money.

The election for West Sydney was not only a keen contest, it was a battle of organizations. It is generally understood that strenuous efforts were made to avenge the dead set against Sir HENRY PARKES in East Sydney by excluding Mr. D. O'CONNOR, or thrusting him into the last place amongst the four who should be returned. Not that there would have been any special reason for coupling the two names together, as they stand on different levels. But Mr. O'CONNOR had apparently founded his chief claim to election upon the violence of his opposition to Sir HENRY PARKES, and the issue seems to show that, whilst on the one hand he thereby caused the omission of his own name from many a voting paper, he gained, on the other, a large amount of concentrated support. In other words, it was plumping against bunching, and bunching being the more difficult game to play, plumping won, so far as he was concerned. What other influences were at work time may show. It was stated yesterday that during the morning some thirty cases of personation were detected; but in whose behalf this zeal without discretion was displayed does not yet appear. Some political significance attaches to the defeat of Mr. DAVID BUCHANAN. This gentleman has lately assumed to be the leader of a new crusade against free trade, and has been prophesying the speedy triumph of protection in the loudest tones. He chose the constituency of West Sydney to appeal to as one containing large numbers of handicraftsmen, amongst whom the principles of protection are commonly supposed to have the strongest support. But his low position at the close of the poll at least shows this: if the electors of West Sydney had not superabundant confidence in this candidate on other grounds, his conversion to protection, and the unmeasured enthusiasm, which, like most sudden converts, he displayed in the new cause, were altogether incapable of making the deficiency good. Protection, open and avowed, is not so popular a thing, even amongst the working-men of West Sydney, as to make them jump at the first candidate who is bold enough to advocate it. When the farmers are asking for it, the workmen see that it means dear food; and it is a more catching policy for candidates to talk about encouraging native industries, by keeping Government work in the colony. That, within certain limits, may be assented to by free-traders; but it is hard to judge, from the utterances of some candidates, whether they would have the firmness to resist, in the pursuit of this policy, extravagant demands.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

SINCE Laycock's success on Saturday he appears to have risen considerably in the estimation of the English public, and his chances against Hanlan are now considered to be better than those of Trickett were. The differences in the British Cabinet, regarding the measures to be adopted for preserving the peace of Ireland, have been smoothed over, chiefly through Mr. Gladstone's personal influence, and a winter session of Parliament, contrary to a previous announcement, is not to be held. The complaints sent home by German representatives at the Melbourne Exhibition, respecting the positions assigned them, has provoked some adverse comments by the German Press. The death of the Right Hon. Sir Alexander J. E. Cockburn, Lord Chief Justice of England, is announced.

THE elections for the metropolitan constituencies are now complete. The polling for West Sydney took place yesterday, amidst considerable excitement, more so than that displayed on the occasion of the election for East Sydney. The successful candidates were Messrs. Cameron, O'Connor, Abigail, and Martin. For Canterbury, Messrs. Pigott and Henson were returned; for Newtown, Messrs. S. C. Brown and W. J. Foster; for St. Leonards, Mr. J. S. Farnell. As will be seen by our reports elsewhere, the elections for several of the country constituencies took place yesterday. To-day, several pollings and nominations are to come off.

THE Conference upon the Chinese question and Border duties between the representatives of New South Wales, Victoria, and South Australia, will take place in Melbourne on Thursday next. This colony will be represented by Sir Henry Parkes, K.C.M.G. (Colonial Secretary), and the Hon. James Watson, M.L.A. (Colonial Treasurer); the representatives of Victoria will be the Hon. Graham Berry (Colonial Secretary), and the Hon. W. M. K. Vale (Attorney General); and South Australia will be represented by the Hon. C. Mann (Treasurer), and Mr. G. S. Fowler, M.P. Sir Henry Parkes and Mr. Watson will leave Sydney by special train for Melbourne either this evening or to-morrow morning. The representatives of South Australia will land at Portland, and will proceed from thence to Melbourne by special train.

IN the Supreme Court, yesterday, his Honor the Chief Justice presided in the Banco Court. In Smith v. Lackey, an action in which the Government were being sued for the work, labour, and materials employed in building the Maharatta Bridge, a verdict was, by consent, given for the plaintiff for £95 1s. 11d., in addition to the sum of £1289 3s. 8d. paid into court. In Solomon v. the Bank of Australasia, for the dishonour of two cheques, the jury assessed the damages at £50, in addition to £50 paid into court. In Korff v. Langdon, an undefended ejectment action to recover possession of 2 roods of land at the Glebe, a verdict was entered for the plaintiff. The trial of Hopkins v. The Gas Company was not concluded when the Court rose. In the Jury Court, before his Honor Sir William Manning and a jury of four, a verdict was given for the plaintiff with damages £125, in Turner v. L'Estrange, for trespasses on the Condoublin run. His Honor Mr. Justice Hargrave, Primary Judge, dealt with a number of matters in equity in chambers.

THE Executive Commissioner for New South Wales at the Melbourne International Exhibition, Dr. Renwick, M.L.A., leaves to-night for Melbourne by the overland route, on business connected with the Exhibition.

MESSRS. JOHN FAIRFAX and SONS have presented a silver trophy as the prize in the Amateur Sculling Championship Race at the recent New South Wales Rowing Association's Regatta. It is made of sterling silver, stands about 17 inches high, is very handsomely engraved in foliage and scroll work, and is surmounted by an appropriate figure. On one side is a shield, neatly chased, bearing the following inscription:—"New South Wales Rowing Association. Amateur Sculling Championship. Sydney Mail trophy. Presented by John Fairfax and Sons;" and on the other side is another inscription, "David Lord, S.R.C." The trophy has to be won three times in succession. Mr. Lord secured it at the recent regatta. It will be presented at the next annual meeting of the association, in December, when the other prizes will be handed over.

IT is highly gratifying to learn, as we occasionally do from various quarters, that the establishment of the Vernon training-ship is productive of beneficial results. Another instance is just to hand. One of the Vernon boys, who had been apprenticed to Mr. F. H. Dangar, to be taught seamanship, writes from London to Captain Neitenstein, commander of the Vernon, stating that, having completed his apprenticeship, he is rated on the books of the vessel as an able seaman; and expresses his thankfulness for the kind treatment received by him on board the training-ship, and his high expectations for the future. Among other matters, referring to a visit paid by him to the Exmouth training-ship, he says, "It opened my eyes when I saw how large she was, Captain Boucher having sent a boy to show me round the ship. She has five decks. You could stow the Vernon in the water-ways without knowing she was there. There are twenty-eight officers and 601 boys on board. They have all sorts of amusements for the boys, and a splendid brass band of forty-five players." He concludes by expressing a hope that, before Christmas he will see Captain Neitenstein, Mr. Gorman, and other friends in Sydney.

THE inmates of the Randwick Asylum were favoured with a treat last night that will not easily be forgotten. The indulgence in a pyrotechnic display, of more than ordinary character, is an amusement which is acceptable at all times; and if we may judge from the countenances of the little folks at the Asylum for Destitute Children, it was evident that the kindness of the House Committee was appreciated with overwhelming gratitude. In view of making the exhibition as successful as possible, Mr. Thomas, the superintendent of the asylum, was indefatigable in his exertions, and, in addition to the ordinary preliminary arrangements, had a large platform erected in the playground. This was deemed expedient on account of the magnitude of some of the explosives, and the peculiarity of their manufacture. All the children were comfortably arranged near the scene of operations, so that, from the touch of the first lucifer to the explosion of the last pyrotechnic work, the little folks had an uninterrupted view. Occasionally they could not suppress their feeling of joy, and the exercise of their articulate organs most unmistakably evidenced the great pleasure they derived from witnessing an entertainment so congenial to their tastes. It may be mentioned that the supply of fireworks obtained by the House Committee was largely supplemented by Mr. Ah Sue, of the firm of Sue Hing Long and Co., of the markets, George-street, and the explosives were fixed and fired under his immediate supervision, with the assistance of Messrs. Scott, Brothers, of Waverley, the well-known pyrotechnical caterers. As a pleasing introduction to the playground, the main entrance, together with the large quadrangle of the institution, were decorated with Chinese lanterns all of which were beautifully embellished with finely-drawn pictures; and to infuse additional animation into the joyous proceedings, the No. 2 Volunteer Fire Brigade Company's brass band, under the leadership of Mr. Hardy, bandmaster, whose services were kindly given, contributed the exercise of their musical capabilities with much gratification and success. Another noticeable feature in the programme was the rendition by the children of several favourite songs, which indicated an excellent training of their vocal powers, and afforded much pleasure to the visitors and friends. The entertainment was a highly successful one, and the rich quality of the fireworks caused them to be very much appreciated. Among the visitors were noticed Mr. John Davies, C.M.G., and Mr. S. H. Pearce, J.P. (directors), Rev. Thos. Wilson, Mr. W. M. Alderson, and Mr. Inspector Oram; and three cheers for the Queen, the directors, the House Committee, the superintendent, Mr. Ah Sue, and last, but with great warmth and gladness, the little folk themselves, brought the proceedings to a close.

THE usual weekly meeting of the Marine Board was held yesterday afternoon, in the Custom-house. Present—Captains Hixson (in the chair), Broomfield, Jenkins, Robertson, Fox, and Maclean. The case of the steamer Kate, lost at the Bellinger River, was postponed for a fortnight. Joseph Silva was brought before the Board, to answer a charge of misconduct, postponed from last week. The chairman said the Board had decided to dismiss the case, but he had been ordered to tell the defendant that if they had got any evidence to bear out the charge preferred against him, the Board would have taken away his certificate. He recommended defendant to be more careful in future; because, as sure as he came before the Board again, and the charge was sustained, they would take away his certificate.

A SMALL but valuable shipment of English swine, from the well-known Holywell farm of Mr. Sanders Spencer, has arrived in this port, after having been transhipped from the Lord Warden at Melbourne, where they were sent with the object of appearing at the International Stock Show. The quarantine laws of that port would not permit of their being landed, so they were forwarded on to their owner, Captain Wagstaff, of the La Hogue, and they are now on board that vessel, ready for inspection prior to their being offered at sale by Messrs. Maiden, Hill, and Clark. According to English authorities, the Holywell white pigs have been bred with great care for the past sixteen years. They are descended from the best specimens obtained from the celebrated herds of Lord Ellesmere, Mr. G. M. Sexton, Mr. Matthew Walker, Mr. Stearn, Mr. J. Dove, and other well-known breeders; and the animals on board the La Hogue by their appearance corroborate this assertion. The shipment consists of three boars and three sows, the large and small breeds being represented. One of the sows is of superior quality, and probably would have secured a first prize had she been exhibited. The Holywell farm has several prizes to its credit from the best agricultural shows of England. Two of the La Hogue's shipment have already been sold. They will be sent to Newcastle, Mr. A. Brown being the purchaser.

THE punishment meted out to a wife-beater the other day at the Water Police Court should act as a warning to would-be ruffians. A man named James Hetherington was sent to gaol for six months with hard labour, for cruelly assaulting and beating his wife. The circumstances of the case, reported in another column, disclose revolting brutality, used without provocation, on the part of the husband. The woman was struck on the face and arms, her limbs were nearly broken by his violence, and, to add to his guilt, the prisoner endeavoured in his defence to cast obloquy on his wife's character. The assault was considered one of an aggravated nature by the presiding magistrates (Messrs. Lester and Cocks), and the above well-merited punishment was meted out; and it is to be hoped its severity will prove a caution to persons similarly disposed with the prisoner.

ALMOST every day persons are brought up and punished at the police courts for some indecency of behaviour in parks, gardens, streets, or other places of public resort. It seems disgraceful that there are so many people regardless of the most ordinary rules of propriety, and the activity of the police in regard to their arrest is highly creditable. To second their exertions and lend a helping hand in the suppression of the shameful proceedings, the magistrates should punish the offenders severely. Two such were fined 40s. on Friday at the Water Police Court.

THE following were among the casualties attended to at the Infirmary yesterday:—Peter Anderson, 32, a labouring man, at Struth's Wharf, suffering from a fracture of the left leg, caused by some bags of wheat falling upon him. John O'Connell, 30, suffering from dislocation of the hip and injury to the knee, caused by being knocked down and run over by a cart and horse on the Ultimo Road. Oival Gill, 33, a dairyman, living in Waterloo, was taken to the institution by Mr. Wm. Anderson. He was said to have attempted suicide, and was suffering from an incised wound on the left side of the throat about four inches long. He had already been seen and attended to by Dr. Parker. All these sufferers were admitted. Charles Huxton, 41, fracture of the radius, caused by falling down some steps at Cockatoo Island; and George Deane, 50, suffering from a dislocation of the shoulder, of old standing, were also attended to.

A TELEGRAM from Wanganui to the New Zealand Times gives the following particulars of the shooting of a white man by the Maoris under Te Whiti:—"Moffat, in company with Henare, left Taupo for the journey down the Wanganui River, giving as his reason that he wanted to recover some property and money he had left in the Tuhua district. The two travelled together without interruption until they arrived on Sunday last at the native village of Matahaura, which is within a few miles of Taumarunui. Taumarunui is situated at the spot where the northern branch of the Wanganui river joins the parent stream. From the natives of Matahawia Moffat and his companion received no welcome. The Maoris appeared sullen, and told the travellers they had no right there, and that the land was tapued to Te Whiti's men. The same night the natives sent a message to Taumarunui to inform the inhabitants of the pah of the arrival of Moffat and Henare. The chiefs of Taumarunui at once held a meeting, at which it was decided Moffat should be shot; and they sent out an armed party of seven men, under the leadership of Ngatai, Mamaku's nephew, to carry the sentence into effect. The murderers formed an ambuscade in the fern by the side of the Maori track, along which Moffat and Henare would have to pass. On Monday the travellers resumed their journey, and when they came within ten yards of the spot the war party rose up, and one of them immediately fired at Moffat and wounded him. He staggered forward, calling out 'Kati, kati' (stop, stop), when a second shot was fired, and he fell in the track—a dead man. Then his companion, Henare, called on the party to shoot him also; 'Kill me as well as my white friend;' but they would not do that, as they knew him well, and that he was a Wanganui native. Henare came on to Taumarunui; but though he received no violence, he met with no welcome. He asked for a canoe to take him down the river, and at length a lad volunteered to go with him, and they at once started; and on the journey they saw Mamaku who did not know what had happened, and appeared much grieved at the news. They also saw Kemp at Parakino, and by him were told to hasten down to Wanganui and inform the authorities; and this they did without loss of time."

A PAPER on the important subject, "How can commercial relations be established between India and the colonies of Australasia?" was (says the Argus) read at the Exhibition offices, by Mr. Buck, president of the commission from India. Several members of the Executive Committee, representatives of the colonies of South Australia, Queensland, Tasmania, Western Australia, New Zealand, &c., and the president and secretary of the Melbourne Chamber of Commerce, were present. Mr. Buck urged that early steps should be taken to bring about an interchange of commodities on an enlarged scale, and directed attention to the favourable results which had been already achieved by the Calcutta Syndicate in their efforts to introduce tea into the colonies. He showed that in some cases the products of the colonies only reached India by way of England. What the colonies now imported from China and Java could be procured quite as readily from India, which would import from the colonies in return. China and Java scarcely bought anything from the colonies in exchange for the large supplies of tea, rice, and sugar received from them. A resolution was passed which affirmed that some form of agency was required, for a limited period, to promote commercial relations between India and Australia, and the members of the Chamber of Commerce were invited to consider the subject on an early day. Sir Herbert Sandford, representative of Great Britain, presided.

INTELLIGENCE reached Wagga on Friday (says the Express) that the woolshed at Buddigower, the property of Mr. D. P. Kehoe, was burned down. The particulars to hand are meagre, and the origin of the fire has not reached us. So far as we can gather, with the woolshed 180 bales of wool have been destroyed, about 15 tons of salt, a lot of wire, a woolpress, and about 200 sheep, the total loss being variously stated to be from £3000 to £5000. The disaster comes at this particular time as all the more serious a blow, in the fact that 10,000 of Mr. Kehoe's sheep were yet unshorn at the time of the fire.

THE Rosedale correspondent of the Argus relates the following extraordinary occurrence:—A shocking accident occurred at the Rosedale steam saw-mill on Thursday, to Mr. P. Murren, the proprietor. A large baulk of timber was being skidded on to the mill table, and Mr. Murren, while superintending the process, was standing close to the baulk. The skids suddenly stopped, and the heavy mass of timber moved over towards Mr. Murren, threatening to crush his legs. He sprang back to avoid it, and fell across the circular-saw table. The saw was then revolving with extra velocity, and he received a deep cut diagonally from under the left breast, along the arm, to the back. In an attempt to slip free he also got a bad wound across the wrist. The wounds were hastily bound up, and Dr. Simmons was sent for, who had the patient conveyed to his house. Strange to say, no vital parts were touched, and all the symptoms are favourable.

THE Bacchus Marsh correspondent of the Argus reports that a young man named George Arthur Payne, aged 21 years, and a son of Captain Payne, R.N., late chief harbourmaster, Melbourne, met his death on Thursday afternoon by drowning in a large waterhole upon the Rockbank estate, the property of the Hon. W. J. Clarke, and situated near Melton. The deceased was bathing, and, it is supposed, was seized with cramp. Mr. Clarke sent to Sunbury for a boat, by which means the body of the unfortunate young man was recovered at noon. He was employed on the station in connection with the management.

THE Melbourne Daily Telegraph of Thursday states that a most interesting prosecution will probably occupy the attention of the District Police Court in a few days, in which a lady and gentleman well known in society will be prosecuted for attempting to smuggle goods through the Customs on the occasion of the arrival of the steamship Cotopaxi from London. It is stated that the gentleman was a passenger by the steamer, and on the arrival of the vessel in port he was met by a lady, who went to his cabin, and immediately afterwards appeared wearing a new sealskin coat, valued at 70 guineas, and carrying a less expensive article of the same description over her arm. The proceeding was observed by the Custom-house officer, who reported the matter to the Commissioner, under whose direction the jackets were subsequently seized at the house of the lady at Toorak. The parties concerned signed an agreement to submit to the case being dealt with by the Commissioner of Customs, who accordingly imposed a fine of £100 on each of the persons concerned. This decision was objected to on various grounds, and the Commissioner finally determined to institute a prosecution.

THE Port Augusta Despatch states that "some time since Mr. Ernest Giles, in charge of an exploring expedition, left for Lake Gardiner, and some anxiety is manifested as to their whereabouts, as nothing has been heard of them for some two or three months. Mr. Alexander Mackay, jun., of this town, is one of the party. It has been suggested that some steps should be taken to discover some traces of the expedition."

MRS. ANN JONES, who kept the Glenrowan Hotel, where three members of the Kelly gang met their fate, and who is being proceeded against on a charge of having harboured Edward Kelly, the now defunct outlaw, was placed in the dock at the City Police Court on Thursday, for the purpose of having her remanded to the police court nearest to where the alleged offence was committed to answer the charge. Mr. D. Gaunson (the Melbourne Daily Telegraph states) appeared on her behalf, and questioned sub-inspector Kennedy, who has the case in hand, as to whether the statement that had been made, that Mrs. Jones had been living apart from her husband, originated with him. Inspector Kennedy denied that it was so. Mr. Gaunson then said that detective Eason's assertion that such was the case on the part of Mrs. Jones was a most malicious one, and calculated to prejudice the Bench and the public; the fact was, the woman's husband had worked on the Gippsland railway, and as the department was opposed to an employee keeping an hotel, his wife managed it, and they were thus necessarily apart, but not in the sense that the assertion made meant. The Bench remanded Mrs. Jones, to appear at Wangaratta on Thursday, first intimating their intention of requiring £600 bail, but after an appeal from Mr. Gaunson concluded to take the prisoner's own recognisance of £200, and two sureties of £100 each. They were not forthcoming, however, and Mrs. Jones was remanded to the Melbourne gaol.

ANOTHER fatal accident has occurred through leaving loaded firearms about. We learn from the Clarence Examiner that a child, four years of age, son of Mr. A. Pegus, Customs officer at the Clarence Heads, had been showing some slight symptoms of croup, and was ordered to be kept indoors during the day. In the absence of his father he had taken a chair into the hall, and took down a pistol from where it was hanging under a coat. The pistol, which was loaded with a rim fire detonating cartridge No. 1, unfortunately went off in the child's hands, and the contents lodged in his neck. Dr. Crabbe, of Rocky Mouth, was summoned, and on examination found a bullet wound on the front of the neck, and could feel a small bullet lying close under the skin over the spinal vertebræ. The boy remained sensible up to within a few minutes of his death, which occurred about half-an-hour after midnight.

SOME more of the claims on the Deep Lead (says the Temora Herald) have struck water, and in Denis Bowes's claim the element has assumed such vast proportions that the owners intend to sink another shaft purposely for a drain shaft, as in the present one they are unable to cope with the amount of water they have struck. On Friday morning no less than 30 feet of water was found in the shaft, and there is quite sufficient to keep a puddling machine in full work.

WE clip the following from the Melbourne Daily Telegraph of Saturday:—"Mr. George Coppin has received a letter from Anderson, Anderson, and Co., London, agents for the Orient line of steamships, in which they say: 'We hope to have one of our November steamers fitted with a freezing-room for cargo.'"

THE following is the report of the Sydney Infirmary for the week ending 20th November:—Admitted—39 males, 19 females: total 58. Discharged—29 males, 18 females: total 47. Died—4 males. Remaining—131 males, 59 females: total 190.

THE sale of the Exmoor sheep, advertised in a late issue, will be held to-day, at the Quarantine station, Bradley's Head. A steamer, to convey intending purchasers, will start from the Circular Wharf at 2.30 p.m.

IT is announced that this evening Mr. W. Grigor Taylor will give "A narrative of personal travel in the Peninsula of Sinai," at the School of Arts, Botany, in aid of the Botany Presbyterian Church

CASINO.

MONDAY.

Senior-constable Tippett and two troopers made a clever capture of a notorious blackfellow named Big Billy, alias Duke of York, near Morgan's Lagoon, a few miles from Casino. He was armed with a tomahawk, and was with difficulty arrested and lodged in Casino gaol on two charges of attempted rape, besides several robberies of bush huts. A blackfellow named Jerry gave information which resulted in Big Billy's capture.

Mr. Fawcett will visit Tabulam and the Tweed before returning to Sydney, to take his seat in the new Parliament.

Geary and party are doing good service in removing obstructions from the river near Casino; but the general opinion is that, sooner or later, the Government must construct a tramway to connect Casino with the river, where it is available for the navigation of ocean steamers.

MONDAY.

The postponed Court of Quarter Sessions was opened to-day, by Acting-Judge George Knox. Mr. C. O'Connor, was Crown prosecutor. To-morrow the great horse-poisoning case, Queen v. Edward Ryan, will come off, which will terminate the business of the calendar for the session. Only a few unimportant cases for the District Court are on for hearing. At the opening of the District Court, Mr. Meymott took objection, under the District Court Act, to his Honor Judge Knox taking part in the District Court cases. The District Court cases were postponed until Wednesday, when the Judge stated that he would then take Mr. Meymott's objection, and reserve the point.

At a meeting of the economic section of the Social Science Congress, this afternoon, the Hon. Thomas Loader delivered a presidential address. He said there were indications of an approaching general confederation of the several colonies of Australia; many questions of uniformity of practice might, however, be resolved upon without waiting for a federal union. The best way of ending the quixotic dispute over the Border duties was, by abolishing the boundary between Victoria and New South Wales, and making them one large State, with only one Parliament, and one Supreme Court. He also advocated uniformity of gauge in the several railway systems, so that the capitals of Brisbane, Melbourne, Sydney, Adelaide, and Perth might be connected by railway. He spoke in favour of the adoption of a family immigration scheme, with local nomination, for the population of the several colonies, and the employment of Indian and coolie labour in South Australia and Queensland, with an abundant water supply for the interior of Australia. A vote of thanks was passed at the conclusion.

The Underwriters' Association has received the following cablegram, dated London, November 19: "The Araby Maid, barque, which had just left London for Port Chalmers with a general cargo, has been driven ashore in the Downs, and now lies stranded and badly strained. It is expected that most of her cargo will be saved, but the extent of the salvage will depend upon the state of the weather during the next few days. The crew and passengers all succeeded in reaching the shore in safety."

The Phylloxera Committee, which visited vineyards at Geelong to-day, found in two cases that the roots had been embodied in cold clay, but in a third phylloxera was found swarming. French experts and others had no doubt of its existence in its worst state.

COOKTOWN, MONDAY.

Captain Vrier, late of the schooner Vibilia, of Sydney, has arrived, and reports the loss of his vessel on September 2, at the Louisiade Archipelago. All hands were saved. The vessel was beached at Kolumna Island. The captain and five men proceeded in an open boat, and arrived on October 18 at Teste Island, where the native missionary informed him that Captain Foreman and the crew of the Annie Brooks, schooner, from Cooktown, were murdered by Brooke Islanders at Newstone Island, early in September. The vessel and a valuable cargo of beche-de-mer, the proceeds of five months' fishing, were entirely destroyed. He also reports that a party of French naturalists, all residents of Cooktown, had been murdered at Jannes Bay, Morseby Island, early in October. Their boat and collection was destroyed without any provocation. Captain Vrier proceeded to Kerepuna mission station, and bought the wreck of a Chinese junk taken by the Aroma natives in July last. The Rev. Mr. Chalmers supplied the necessaries for repairing the vessel, which started for Kolumna; but making too much lee way, she bore away for Cooktown. The names of the Annie Brooks' party were—Captain Foreman, Purdie, M'Rae, Campbell, Hastings, Jefferies, two other Europeans, and three Chinese. The French party consisted of Auguste Naudan, John Chambord, and three other Europeans. Captain Foreman's family reside in Sydney.

NEW SOUTH WALES RIFLE ASSOCIATION MATCHES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I quite agree with your correspondent "Looker-on" in this morning's paper, but cannot but think that he and his friends are to blame in not sooner taking action regarding his complaint. He must be aware that the Council of the Association has done all it can do in the matter. The rules provide that competitors in purely volunteer matches shall be efficient in accordance with brigade orders, and the Council cannot very well dictate to the Commandant what those orders shall be. I think it would have been better if the Commandant had left his condition of efficiency the same as last year, but if "Looker-on" is aggrieved it is not too late for him to move the Colonial Secretary to have the order varied, which, out of common justice, on the matter being properly explained, he would have done.

Yours, &c., OBSERVER

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Your correspondent "Looker On," in his remarks with reference to the limitations placed on the entry of old Volunteers for the forthcoming matches of the New South Wales Rifle Association, appears to be somewhat at sea.

In the first instance the Commandant would seem to have nothing to do with making efficiency a requirement as regards some of the matches, the association itself (which is, it may be noted, a civil society in no way controlled by the military authorities) enacting it, its 29th rule stating that the term "volunteer" "shall apply to and include all persons efficiently and actively serving in any branch of the local forces." In truth the brigade order defining efficiency only, gives technical elaboration to the requirements of the association, and in giving such is pretty well bound down by the law, as embodied in the Volunteer regulations. Is it desired the Commandant shall notify persons as "actively and efficiently serving" when they are not? Is it thought proper he should proclaim efficiency to be something other than the regulations have made it?

WAGGA WAGGA, MONDAY.

The weather was fine to-day, and not too warm, and the attendance was good. The course is in nice order, though a little hard, and the grand stand, the new Derby stand, and the lawn look their best. The results so far are as follows:—

SIRES' PRODUCE STAKES.

Birthday	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
Bend Sinister	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2
Mosquito	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	3

Mr. Devlin's ch f Ella also started.

They were dispatched to a good start, and Bend Sinister and Mosquito led to the home turn, when Birthday, who was running unkindly, came up on the outside and won easily by two lengths from Bend Sinister, who beat Mosquito half-a-neck for third place. Time, 1 minute 20 2-10 seconds.

SELLING STAKES.

Baronet	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
Harlequin	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2
Sampson	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	3

Sampson, who was the favourite at even money, led till entering the straight, when Harlequin and Baronet headed him, and the latter won easily by a length from Harlequin, who was followed by Sampson, Dolphin, and Prince. No official time.

THE CUP.

Lord Burghley	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
Auckland	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2
The Pontiff	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	3

Betting: 5 to 4 on Lord Burghley, 6 to 1 against Retrospect and The Pontiff.

The flag fell to a shocking bad start, Nancy Lee jumping off in front, while Marchioness and Retrospect were left at the post. Nancy Lee led for a mile and a-half, attended by Master Avenal, when Lord Burghley came through, and led into the straight, with Auckland, Nancy Lee, and the Pontiff following closely. A fine race ensued, and the favourite won by a head from Auckland, who beat the Pontiff by a neck for second place. Six lengths from the latter came Strathearn, followed by Nancy Lee, Phantom, Retrospect, Marchioness, Rookwood, Master Avenal, Johnny Crapaud, and Golden Locks. Time, 3 minutes 34 seconds. After passing the post, Rookwood dropped dead, and Lord Burghley, falling overjhim, was seriously injured.

HURDLE RACE.

Eros	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
Meritana	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2
Skipper	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	3

The following also started—Whitelight, Ensign, Hatter, Mavis, Sleet, a bay horse by Snowdem, Athos, Constant, and Zanga.

Hatter and Maritana led off, but the former and Whitelight refused the second fence, and the un-aged Snowdem horse took up the running, and while a chapter of accidents took place, led till half-a-mile from home, when Eros and Maritana headed him, and Eros, well ridden by Colley, won easily from Maritana and Skipper. There were a number of falls, but no accident of a serious nature. Time, 6 minutes 39 seconds.

MAIDEN PLATE.

Sapphire	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	1
Honesty	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	2
Nightmare	...	...	...	...	...	...	...	3

Betting: 7 to 4 on Sapphire.

The other starters were Lord Lisgar, Bowbell, Corinna, and Marmora. Nightmare made most of the running, followed by Corinna, Bowbell, and a closely packed field. The lot closed up at the turn, and then Sapphire, running through her horses, won very easily by a length from Honesty, who beat Nightmare by half a length for second places. Time, 12 minutes 13 seconds.

LAYCOCK v. HANLAN.

We learn that the period of leave of absence granted to Laycock has been extended for two months, so that an opportunity may be afforded to the Australian sculler of meeting Hanlan, the Canadian, for the Championship of the World, before he leaves England.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—As an old friend and admirer of Laycock, I would ask your indulgence in bringing more prominently before the public some few circumstances which may prove interesting, and perhaps, at the same time, make him a little better understood. He is an intelligent, well-educated man, of a naturally reserved and taciturn disposition, with a peculiarly blunt and independent manner; and, although he has little love for public applause and acclamation, he has a due appreciation of the value of a good name; hence his quiet departure, according to his own idea—"I have not had the confidence of the Sydney public, through no fault of my own, and why should they have mine." From the date of Hanlan scoring the well-known victory over Elliott, the champion of England, Laycock had an intense desire to visit England and America, and measure blades with their champions. After reading a minute description in The Field of the form shown by the English and American rowers, he assured me that he firmly believed he could defeat not only the English oarsmen, but Hanlan himself; and the only man that he had any doubt about was Wallace Ross. At last overtures were made to him, there was no lures in the locality referred to in the report. The motion was however put and carried. A report from the Finance Committee was then brought up by the Mayor, recommending payment of sundry accounts amounting to £105 9s. 4d.; also, that the inspector of nuisances furnish a report monthly of the cases brought by him before the bench of magistrates, with an account of the fines and costs imposed in each case. Alderman Sparkes moved the adoption of the report, seconded by Alderman Larkin, and carried. The Council then went into committee to consider tenders for kerbing and guttering in Lambert, University, and Mary streets, and for forming and ballasting in Regent, College, and Denison streets. The following tenders were accepted:—For kerbing and guttering, Mr. John Hickey, at 9s per yard; for ballasting, &c., Messrs. Carmichael and Hickson, viz., Brown-street, £4 12s 6d per chain; College-street, £6 10s. ditto; Denison-street, £5 15s. ditto; Regent-street, £6 10s. ditto. The Council then resumed, and the Mayor reported progress. Alderman Thomson moved the adoption of the report, seconded by Alderman Larkin, and carried.—WM. PINCOMB, Council-clerk.

RANDWICK.—The regular meeting of the Council was held on the 16th instant. Present—Aldermen Pearce, Wall, Magill, Denning, and Klas. In the absence of the Mayor, Alderman Klas was voted to the chair. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. Correspondence read: To the House Committee, Randwick Asylum, requesting the immediate abatement of an alleged nuisance on the grounds of the institute. To Mr. Dine, informing him that the Council would proceed with the kerbing and guttering of St. Jude's Hill at his risk and expense, unless continued by him at once, according to specification. To the Minister for Works, urging upon him the necessity of placing upon the Estimates a further sum of £500 for the continuation of road from Randwick to Long Bay. To the Minister for Lands, applying for a grant of £300 for improvements to Randwick recreation reserve. To the Councilclerks, Glebe, Paddington, Newtown, and Balmain, desiring information relative to the disposal of the nightsoil in their respective boroughs. To Mrs. Farrell, requesting her to at once comply with Council's order to open the watercourse leading through her property. From the Colonial Secretary's Office, stating that the by-laws for control of Randwick recreation reserve had been forwarded to the Department of Lands. From Mrs. Callaghan, complaining of certain nuisances near her property arising from defective drainage. This communication was ordered to stand over, pending information from the inspector of nuisances. From the residents of Gordon-street, complaining of the condition of that street. The overseer was instructed to report upon this matter at next meeting of Council. From the Lands Office, stating that the application from this Council for the sum of £200 for further improvements to the recreation reserve would be duly considered. From Mr. W. Kuhn, applying for permission to play cricket on the recreation reserve on the 27th instant. This application was refused, being contrary to the by-laws recently passed in Council for the control of the reserve. The overseer's report for the past fortnight was read and approved. Accounts were passed amounting to £33 6s. 9d. On the motion of Alderman Wall, seconded by Alderman Pearce, it was resolved..."That the Inspector of nuisances be requested to furnish the following information:—The names of the owners and occupiers of each house in the borough, and the number of occupants, the number of drains attached, the purpose for which they are used, and where they discharge; also, the number, description, and condition of closets to each house, how they are emptied and where; further, the condition of all pig-sties and cow yards." Carried. W. BETTRIDGE, Council-clerk.

he asks for is the respect and good esteem of each and all of his fellow-Australians.

But with our new favourite let us not forget the old one.

I am, &c., CHARON.

The opening matches of the Port Jackson Swimming Club are to take place next Saturday, at Foley's baths, Domain. There are ten events on the programme, including an aquatic polo match. Entries close at the Freemasons' Hotel, to-morrow night.

BOROUGH COUNCILS.

CAMPERDOWN.—Meeting of Council held on 26th October. Present—The Mayor and Aldermen Bennett, Cruikshank, M'Grath, Thomson, Larkin, and Sparkes. Minutes of previous meeting read and confirmed. Correspondence: Replies to letters received.—Letters received: From the inspector of nuisances reporting obstruction in his discharge of duties by being prevented from entering on the premises of Mr. John Reddan. Alderman Sparkes moved,—"That the letter be received, and that the inspector act in accordance with the powers vested in him by the Nuisance Prevention Act and by-laws;" seconded by Alderman Bennett, and carried. From Mr. Cox, requesting an advance on account of his contract; referred to the Finance Committee. From Mr. Finlay, requesting permission to form an open crossing in front of his premises in Stephen-street; permission granted, on the usual conditions. The Mayor brought up a report from the Improvement Committee, recommending the following works to be carried out, viz.:—Removal of earth from between Mr. Fowler's and Mr. Joiner's properties, as required, for blinding footpaths, &c. Kerbing and guttering in front of houses on eastern and western sides of St. Mary-street, and on eastern side of Church-street. That the open crossings at the junction of John and Thomas streets be taken up, and pipe crossings laid instead thereof. That all depressions caused by laying down water and gas-pipes on Missenden Road and Stephen-street be filled up with ballast and metal. That kerbing and guttering in front of Mr. Culbert's and Mr. Preston's premises, in Georgestreet, be repaired. That all persons employed to lay down piping from the mains for water or gas be compelled to fill up the openings in a proper and substantial manner; also recommending that this Council avail themselves of the advantage provided by law, by taking immediate steps to have the City Building and Improvement Act extended to this Borough. Alderman Sparkes moved the adoption of the report, seconded by Alderman Cruikshank. Alderman Thomson objected to pipe crossings in the locality referred to in the report. The motion was however put and carried. A report from the Finance Committee was then brought up by the Mayor, recommending payment of sundry accounts amounting to £105 9s. 4d.; also, that the inspector of nuisances furnish a report monthly of the cases brought by him before the bench of magistrates, with an account of the fines and costs imposed in each case. Alderman Sparkes moved the adoption of the report, seconded by Alderman Larkin, and carried. The Council then went into committee to consider tenders for kerbing and guttering in Lambert, University, and Mary streets, and for forming and ballasting in Regent, College, and Denison streets. The following tenders were accepted:—For kerbing and guttering, Mr. John Hickey, at 9s per yard; for ballasting, &c., Messrs. Carmichael and Hickson, viz., Brown-street, £4 12s 6d per chain; College-street, £6 10s. ditto; Denison-street, £5 15s. ditto; Regent-street, £6 10s. ditto. The Council then resumed, and the Mayor reported progress. Alderman Thomson moved the adoption of the report, seconded by Alderman Larkin, and carried.—WM. PINCOMB, Council-clerk.

RANDWICK.—The regular meeting of the Council was held on the 16th instant. Present—Aldermen Pearce, Wall, Magill, Denning, and Klas. In the absence of the Mayor, Alderman Klas was voted to the chair. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. Correspondence read: To the House Committee, Randwick Asylum, requesting the immediate abatement of an alleged nuisance on the grounds of the institute. To Mr. Dine, informing him that the Council would proceed with the kerbing and guttering of St. Jude's Hill at his risk and expense, unless continued by him at once, according to specification. To the Minister for Works, urging upon him the necessity of placing upon the Estimates a further sum of £500 for the continuation of road from Randwick to Long Bay. To the Minister for Lands, applying for a grant of £300 for improvements to Randwick recreation reserve. To the Council-clerks, Glebe, Paddington, Newtown, and Balmain, desiring information relative to the disposal of the nightsoil in their respective boroughs. To Mrs. Farrell, requesting her to at once comply with Council's order to open the watercourse leading through her property. From the Colonial Secretary's Office, stating that the by-laws for control of Randwick recreation reserve had been forwarded to the Department of Lands. From Mrs. Callaghan, complaining of certain nuisances near her property arising from defective drainage. This communication was ordered to stand over, pending information from the inspector of nuisances. From the residents of Gordon-street, complaining of the condition of that street. The overseer was instructed to report upon this matter at next meeting of Council. From the Lands Office, stating that the application from this Council for the sum of £200 for further improvements to the recreation reserve would be duly considered. From Mr. W. Kuhn, applying for permission to play cricket on the recreation reserve on the 27th instant. This application was refused, being contrary to the by-laws recently passed in Council for the control of the reserve. The overseer's report for the past fortnight was read and approved. Accounts were passed amounting to £33 6s. 9d. On the motion of Alderman Wall, seconded by Alderman Pearce, it was resolved..."That the Inspector of nuisances be requested to furnish the following information:—The names of the owners and occupiers of each house in the borough, and the number of occupants, the number of drains attached, the purpose for which they are used, and where they discharge; also, the number, description, and condition of closets to each house, how they are emptied and where; further, the condition of all pig-sties and cow yards." Carried. W. BETTRIDGE, Council-clerk.

MAURITIUS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

PORT LOUIS, Oct. 6.

Since the date of my last letter our sugar planters have entered into the busiest period of their year, and the plantations in all parts of the colony now present a spectacle of incessant activity. The prospects of the colony, without being absolutely discouraging, cannot be said to be everything that could be desired just at the moment. However, the same good fortune in regard to abnormally high prices of sugar which floated our agriculturists over the bad result of last crop, is again helping them over another short yield. Pessimists gravely assert that Mauritius has seen its best days; but most of the old colonists, accustomed to see the ups and downs for which this island has obtained a somewhat unenviable notoriety, look forward hopefully to better times.

We have had a good many failures here lately among the native traders, which of course contribute to give things the reverse of a "coleur de rose" aspect.

An Anglo-French daily newspaper has just been started here under the name of the Mauritius Argus. It has a daily issue. People unacquainted with the colony would hardly be prepared for the difficulty and expense attendant on the launching of a newspaper here. In the first place, it must have a separate English and French editorial staff. Then it must have a daily issue to be on a par with the other journals in the island. Further, type-setters worthy of the name are extremely rare. Altogether, I can assure you the owners of even well-established daily prints have no sinecure.

Among the official documents lately laid before the Council of Government here, is an interesting correspondence between the Secretary of State and the Governor of the colony, on a very important subject to Mauritius, viz.: irrigation. I may briefly resume the whole matter in the following words. Two irrigation schemes have been proposed here for different parts of the island. According to the first, Sir G. Balfour, who is a London director of several finance companies connected with this colony, and has had a good deal of experience in Mauritius affairs, proposed to construct an irrigation canal from the "Mare aux Vacous," a lake of fresh water about fifty acres in extent, almost in the middle of the island, which would permit of the cultivation of a certain extent of land at present worthless, through repeated droughts. The scheme has fallen through, owing to the impracticability of meeting Sir G. Balfour's views, in regard to the appropriation of the water, which, it is feared, would trench on private rights. The next irrigation proposal was to utilize two streams, which, it is believed, would give 8000 cubic feet of water per minute. A canal, twenty-seven miles long, would have to be constructed for this object, the cost of which is estimated at £150,000; and it is calculated that the quantity of land brought under cultivation would not exceed 3100 acres. The Secretary of State makes a resume of the whole matter, pointing out that the result would be barely commensurate with the expense, and declines to sanction the carrying out of the scheme for the present. In the meantime, the views of the Indian Government on the subject of irrigation, for the guidance of the authorities here, have been asked for.

Mr. Horne, the energetic director of our Botanical Gardens, has just returned here from a series of voyages extending over more than two years, during which period he was engaged in searching for new varieties of the sugar cane in Australia, Fiji, the Samoa Islands, &c. This gentleman has recently been in correspondence with Government in regard to a machine for the extraction of the aloe fibre, which, it is hoped, may enable the cultivation of this plant to become one of the staple industries of the colony. The aloe yields about 15 cwt. to the acre, and the value of the fibre in England is £32 to £35 per ton.

Your readers may possibly have read in some of my previous letters of a very fatal epizootic disease, which, about a year ago, carried off nearly all the horned cattle in the colony. I have, unfortunately, to report that it has again made its appearance, and two considerable flock-owners in the district of Black River have been sufferers from it. The re-appearance of this scourge is causing a good deal of anxiety here, and has completely paralyzed cattle breeding, which was formerly carried on here on a large scale.

Bishop Kestell-Cornish (the Protestant Bishop of Madagascar) left for the capital of that island a few days ago, accompanied by Mrs. Kestell-Cornish and several missionaries. The Mauritian settlers at Madagascar, and I may say British settlers there generally, seem to know how to make themselves liked by the natives, which, it may be remarked, is not so much the case with the settlers from the neighbouring French island of Bourbon. The establishment of an English bishop at the capital will, perhaps, have the effect of increasing the favour in which we stand there. Bishop Kestell-Cornish has just returned from England, where he has been to collect funds to build a church at Antsnanarivo, and it is said he has been very successful in the object of his voyage.

Our mercantile firms here are many of them agitating for much more severity in the bankruptcy laws, in consequence of the frequent losses to which they are subjected from fraudulent debtors, who have hitherto, in many cases, succeeded in escaping unpunished, by coolly leaving the island after running up debts as long as their credit lasted. Two flagrant cases of swindling in this way have just been brought to light. An Arab storekeeper bought 200 cases of soap from a merchant here, and on the very day they were delivered, he quietly left for Bombay, after re-selling the soap. The other case was one in which a Chinese shopkeeper was the principal actor. This worthy contracted debts with most of the firms here to the tune of about 60,000 rupees, and then disappeared. His next move was to try to get away from the island, and he had nearly accomplished his object when he was arrested through the vigilance of one of his creditors. Then comes the cream of the story: owing to some hitch in the laws here, the creditors were unable to take possession of his shops immediately; and, as might be expected under the circumstances, some "friends in need" of the 'cute John Chinaman profited by the delay to empty them of their contents. There is now little chance of the recovery of either goods or money.

THE WAR IN PERU.—The following telegraphic news appears in the San Francisco papers:—"New York, October 15.—Valparaiso news is as follows: The representatives of the three belligerents, Bolivia, Chile, and Peru, will meet on board the United States man-of-war at Arica. It is understood that one stipulation will be that hostilities may continue pending negotiations. Peru, it is reported, will refuse the cession of territory. The United States Minister has left Valparaiso for Arica to be present at the meeting."—"New York, October 17.—Panama advices to the 6th instant say: The Lima correspondent of the Star and Herald, under date of September 22nd, writes: The Chilenos have begun the bombardment of Callao and Chorrellos. The diplomatic body agreed that they could do nothing to protect the threatened towns, and that the only course open to them was to acknowledge the despatch received from the Chilean naval vessels. The Chilean authorities claim that the invading army will consist of 30,000 men, divided into four divisions, each consisting of two brigades. The divisions are to number from 6000 to 7000 men, to be accompanied by 600 cavalry and 25 Krupp cannon, giving a total cavalry force of 2000 sabres and 100 guns as their artillery. They hope to convert the flourishing Kimac valley and the "City of the Kings," which is its pride, into a howling wilderness. They did so in the south, and more recently in the north, where they not only destroyed houses, machinery, and cane and corn fields, but cut down the fruit trees. Animals of all kinds have been carried off and killed, and trifling articles have been embarked at the same time as the more valuable sugar and rum. Montayo, nephew of ex-President Pardo, was executed inside the cemetery. He was informed one morning that there was no hope, and next morning sentence was carried into effect. He fell instantly, pierced by four bullets. The issue of 12,000,000 dollars in paper in Chile has been followed by the banks ordering all their depositors to withdraw their deposits, otherwise they will only earn 1 per cent. interest per annum."

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—MONDAY, NOVEMBER 22.

SITTINGS FOR CAUSES.

SMITH v. LACKEY.

In this action Matthew Francis Smith sought to recover from the Government (the Minister for Works being the nominal defendant) the value of certain work done and materials provided for the Maharatta Bridge.

By consent a verdict was entered for the plaintiff for £95 1s. 11d., in addition to the sum of £1289 3s. 6d. paid into court.

Mr. Healey, instructed by Messrs. Gannon and M'Laughlin, appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. Simpson, instructed by the Crown Solicitor, appeared for the Government.

SOLOMON V. BANK OF AUSTRALASIA.

Jury: Messrs. William J. Green, George Hill, S. Furness, and Thomas Playfair.

Mr. Darley, Q.C., and Sir George Innes, instructed by Mr. D. L. Levy, appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. M. H. Stephen, Q.C., and Mr. Want, instructed by Mr. Robberds, appeared for the defendants.

This was an action brought by Henry Solomon to recover damages from the Bank of Australasia for dishonouring two of his cheques—one £12, paid by the plaintiff to Messrs. F. T. Wimble and Co. in payment of a debt due; the other for £53 2s., paid to Messrs. Edwards and Dunlop, also in payment of a debt. £3000 was claimed as general damages. The bank paid £50 into court.

From the evidence it appeared that the plaintiff (the proprietor of the Caxton Printing Office) carried on the business of a printer and publisher in Pitt-street, and had a current account at the Pitt-street branch of the Bank of Australasia. On the 19th of March he paid into his credit the sum of £67 11s. 8d., his account before that deposit being in credit £2 12s. 5d. On the 20th of July he drew a cheque for £53 2s. in payment of an account due to Messrs. Edwards, Dunlop, and Co. That firm paid the cheque into their bank (the Joint Stock Bank) for collection. In due course that cheque was presented for payment at the Bank of Australasia, and was dishonoured, on the ground that the plaintiff had not sufficient funds. The cheque was returned to Messrs. Edwards, Dunlop, and Co., who wrote to the plaintiff, expressing their surprise and annoyance at the cheque being dishonoured, and demanding cash in payment. On the same day (the 20th July) the plaintiff also drew a cheque for £12 1s. in payment of an account due to Messrs. F. T. Wimble and Co., printers' brokers. That cheque was paid in for collection to the London Chartered Bank, and in due course was presented and dishonoured. After hearing of the dishonour of his cheques the plaintiff made inquiries at the defendants' bank, and at first was referred to the manager. On examination it was discovered that the sum paid in (£67 11s. 8d.) had erroneously been carried to the account of a Mr. John Solomon. The bank wrote an apology to the plaintiff, which he showed to Messrs. Edwards, Dunlop, and Co. and to Messrs. Wimble and Co.

The defendants' case was that the plaintiff had received his passbook on two occasions between the 17th of March and the 21st of June, and had not made any complaint to, or drawn the attention of, the bank to the omission. After the error had been detected an ample apology was made, and after action brought £50 was paid into court as amends.

Mr. M. H. Stephen, Q.C., addressed the jury for the defendants, and contended that the £50 paid into court would amply compensate the plaintiff for any injury his credit might have received by the dishonour of the cheques.

Mr. Darley, Q.C., replied.

The jury, after his HONOR'S direction, assessed the damages at £50, in addition to the sum paid into court.

KORFF V. LANGDON.

This was an undefended action of ejectment to recover possession of two roods of land at the Glebe, at the intersection of Bay and Queen streets.

Mr. Darley, Q.C., instructed by Messrs. M'Carthy, Robertson, and Fisher, appeared for the plaintiffs, F. Korff, J. C. Rossiter, F. H. Reuss, jun., and W. H. Hicks. The defendant, John Robert Langdon, did not appear.

A verdict was entered for the plaintiff.

Jury Court.—(Before his Honor Sir WILLIAM MANNING and a jury of four.)

TURNER V. L'ESTRANGE.

Jury: Messrs. George Anderson, James Clarke, A. J. Riley, and F. Davey.

Mr. Darley, Q.C., and Mr. Pilcher, instructed by Messrs. M'Carthy, Robertson, and Fisher, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Want, instructed by Messrs. Coonan, Ryan, and Dunn, appeared for the defendant.

This was an action brought by George Napier Turner to recover damages from William L'Estrange for trespassing with sheep, cattle, and horses on the plaintiff's Condoobolin run, in the Wellington district.

£2000 was claimed. The defendant pleaded—(1) not guilty; (2) the lands were not the plaintiff's; (3) justification as a selector of the lands trespassed upon.

The defendant's "free selection" title partly failed, as he had taken up land in part on a reserve. The only issue for the jury was as to the amount of compensation to be paid to the plaintiff for the trespassing of the defendant's sheep, in number about 2500. It appeared that the plaintiff had a flock of about 3000 sheep in a paddock of 15,000 acres. The defendant went through the form of taking up a selection of 500 acres, and on to his selection brought 2500 sheep which were shepherded in that paddocks and also about twelve horses, ? 30 cows, and a bull. The inevitable effect was, that the plaintiff's sheep were harried about and greatly deteriorated in their wool, and also in their lambing.

Mr. Want addressed the jury for the defence.

Mr. Darley, Q.C., replied, and did not ask for punitive damages, but for compensation.

His HONOR summed up the evidence and directed the jury, that the plaintiff was entitled to reasonable compensation, as the defendant, though in the wrong, had acted bona-fide in taking up the selection of 500 acres, of which portion was on a reserve, and therefore invalid.

The jury, after retiring for ten minutes, returned a verdict for the plaintiff, with damages £125.

The following jurors were each fined 40s. for not attending as jurors in the Banco Court:—Messrs. George Hall, publican, Essex and Erskine streets; Joseph Byles, greengrocer, 145, George-street.

DIVORCE AND MATRIMONIAL CAUSES.

MONDAY.

DIBBS V. DIBBS AND BLAIR.

Before this case was opened, Mr. Manning rose and said he had an application to make on behalf of the respondent. An affidavit, sworn that day by Mr. John Shepherd, showed that Mr. Darley, the senior counsel engaged in the case, was unable to attend, and would have to throw up his brief unless there were a postponement, as he had a number of other briefs to appear for, and could not disappoint them, and do them the injustice of returning them their briefs. Then, the costs must be taxed again, because at present counsel's fees were struck out, and they could not afford to take a brief for nothing. An amount was paid into court, de die in diem, and the affidavit went to show that there was only £170 in court now, out of which counsel's fees had to be paid, and also a large amount of expenses conditionally allowed. This was not a case which should go out of the ordinary rule that the costs should be taxed de die in diem, and if the case went on to-day there would be no briefs for the respondents, as he only appeared to make the application.

Mr. Dalley opposed the application in the strongest possible manner, as it was an attempt to throw this case over.

Mr. Manning: I state absolutely that there is nothing of the kind attempted.

Mr. Dalley continued, saying that the application was based on two grounds. The first was the important engagements of Mr. Darley, which, according to Mr. Manning, necessitated an interference with the business of this Court. It said that all the jurymen, that his Honor, and that all the counsel engaged in the case were to be subordinated to Mr. Darley's engagements, a matter that would bring this Court into sovereign contempt. It was a monstrous thing that the whole business of this court of justice should be suspended because his learned friend had accepted too many retainers in other courts. He declined to argue that point at all; he thought it neither decent nor respectful to the Court to propose to study the convenience of any counsel at its expense. This case had already been postponed, and it was fixed to be heard on November 1, when it was postponed again. The petitioner had come prepared to go on, and the application could only be made for the purpose of throwing every kind of obstacle in his way. The second point was the taxation of costs. An unprecedented sum of money (£500) had been allowed for costs, and a considerable amount of this was unexpended.

Mr. Manning drew his Honor's attention to the fact that this suit was never instituted until Mrs. Dibbs filed here for the restitution of conjugal rights. He assured his Honor that this was a bona fide application.

His HONOR said it was unfortunate this state of things had arisen. The taxation was made so late that it was impossible to tax again, and it was quite clear that the wife, in such a suit, was entitled to her costs de die in diem, the object being that in a matter so momentous to her she should not be without means, and that the Court should not decide without the fullest investigation. Whatever had caused this unfortunate state of things, the result was that she was here without counsel, and that was not satisfactory. Of course, he could see that the postponement would cause more expense to both parties; but the question was, what should he do to arrive at the truth in this case. It appeared to him that, in justice to the petitioner, he could not listen to the application on the grounds that counsel could not attend; but, putting that consideration aside, the question came whether the case was to proceed when the defendant was unrepresented. As to the charge of delay, the history of the case since September, 1879, showed that there had been delays on either side. In order to ascertain what the truth was in this matter, he must grant this postponement until Monday next.

INSOLVENCY COURT.—MONDAY.

(Before the CHIEF COMMISSIONER.)

In the matter of John Austin, application for release. This application had been adjourned from a previous day, in order to allow an affidavit to be filed, with further particulars. The application was granted, subject to payment of 5 per cent. on the unsecured debts, £1222, and the usual costs and charges.

In the matter of Francis Mooney, meeting for examination of insolvent and witnesses. Insolvent deposed to the correctness of his schedule, and the examination was terminated, insolvent being instructed to file supplementary statement within 10 days.

POLICE.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

The business of this Court was transacted yesterday in the small room at the end of the verandah of the lockup. The Police Magistrate sat there until 10, when he opened the Small Debts Court in the passage (called the "long room") leading to the bench on the criminal side of the court, the two courtrooms and a portion of the hall being occupied for electioneering purposes. Messrs. Hunt and Macintosh heard the cases left untried by Mr. Crane, which, however, were of no public interest, with the exception of one, wherein a man stood charged with having feloniously cut and wounded his wife, which was not concluded; they consisted of drunkenness, or of riotous behaviour or offensive language perpetrated or uttered while under the influence of drunkenness.

WATER POLICE COURT.

At the Water Police Court on Friday last, Messrs. Lester and Cooke being the adjudicating magistrates,

James Hetherington was charged with having assaulted and beaten his wife Isabella. Prisoner at first pleaded guilty, with provocation, but afterwards pleaded not guilty. Constable Boyce stated that he arrested prisoner, by virtue of the warrant produced, on his premises, at 30, Botany-street, on Thursday last, and took him to No. 3 station, where he charged him as in the warrant; in answer, prisoner said he was looking through a window, and saw a man named M'Kay beating his wife slightly, so as to blacken her face and get up a case against him; when witness went to the house prisoner's wife was in the street, afraid to go inside, and when witness brought prisoner down he rushed at his wife to beat her. Isabella Hetherington deposed that she was the wife of prisoner; between 5 and 6 o'clock on the afternoon of Monday, 15th instant, witness was at her mother's house, 30, Botany-street, Surry Hills; prisoner was there also; he rushed at her, caught her by both arms, and tried to break them against the door; he then struck her in the face twice with his shut fists, leaving the marks then on her face; the marks on her arms were done by prisoner when he tried to break them against the door; witness ran away when prisoner struck her; she bled a great deal; the dress produced (covered with blood) was the one she had on at the time; the other clothes marked with her blood were partly washed by prisoner. Prisoner here cross-examined his wife with a view of proving that she had been guilty of a criminal intrigue with a man named Mackay, but she denied the charge. Rose Roberts stated that on Monday afternoon, between 4 and 5 o'clock, Mrs. Hetherington went into her place, which was only a few doors distant from 30, Botany-street; the blood was then streaming down her face, and her clothes were all over blood; witness did not see Hetherington, but she heard him a few minutes afterwards in his own house "talking cross." For the defence prisoner called Frederick Charles Turner, chemist, of Oxford-street, to prove that his wife had obtained medicines to cure a venereal disease, but the witness denied that he had ever supplied such medicine. The Bench considered the case clearly proved, and, in sentencing prisoner, said it was a very cruel case. Prisoner had added to his guilt and gravity by endeavouring to blacken his wife's character in order to escape punishment. They considered the assault to be of an aggravated nature, and sentenced him to six months' imprisonment, with hard labour, in Darlinghurst gaol.

Messrs. Marsh (W.P.M.), Goodridge, and Hall presided in the Charge Court yesterday; and the Bench in the Summons Court was occupied by Messrs. Lester and Purdrieu.

A large number of cases against inebriates and disorderly characters were disposed of.

Richard Abbott was found guilty of committing and beating Thomas Frost, by thrashing him off and striking him near the Newcastle Steamship Company's premises. He was fined 15s. 10d., with the alternative of a day's imprisonment.

NEWTOWN POLICE COURT.

Owing to the electioneering business, this Court was held at the lockup yesterday, Mr. W. Jolly, J.P., presiding.

Patrick Cummins, John Ellis, William O'Donnell, and Theodore Button were brought up, the former on remand and the last named by warrant, for disobeying a summons in which they were charged with inflicting grievous bodily harm on Ah Yee. The four defendants were remanded till the 29th, and bail was allowed, each in £20, with one surety in £10 or two sureties in £5 each.

Mr. Jolly expressed some concern at being obliged to hold the court in a quasi cell at the lockup.

Parliamentary Elections.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE ELECTORATE OF THE HAWKESBURY.

Gentlemen,—Parliament having been dissolved by proclamation, which appeared in to-day's papers, I beg to announce myself as a candidate for re-election, and confidently solicit a renewal of your suffrages.

During the three years which I have had the honour of representing the Hawkesbury, I have endeavoured conscientiously to discharge the duties devolving upon me. I gave a hearty support to the new Public Schools Act, and to the several other useful measures introduced into Parliament by the existing Government. As to local matters I have done my best—as I think your candour will admit—to promote the best interests of the district, not omitting those connected with the welfare of the two principal towns, Windsor and Richmond, now incorporated in the electorate.

I endeavoured, as you are aware, to obtain two members for the district, but though unsuccessful it was through no fault of mine; whilst I have never hesitated to oppose proposals which I considered detrimental to the true progress of the country.

For the future, I will promise, if elected, to pursue the same independent and cautious course for your interests and the interests of the colony generally which I have hitherto followed.

I will endeavour to keep down unnecessary taxation, and advocate retrenchment, wherever practicable, in the public service.

I purpose holding meetings at the various centres of population throughout the district prior to the day of election, when I will enter more fully into public questions than I deem it necessary to do in a published address. Due notice of these meetings will be given.

And, with many thanks for your past confidence in me,

I remain, your most obedient servant,

ALEXANDER BOWMAN.

Reform Club, Sydney, November 11, 1880.

ELECTORAL DISTRICT OF HARTLEY.

A Public MEETING of the Electors of the above-named Electorate will be held at noon, at the Court House, Hartley, THIS DAY, the 23rd day of November instant, for the nomination and election of a member to serve in the Legislative Assembly of New South Wales for the Electoral District of Hartley.

In the event of more than one candidate being proposed, and a poll demanded, the Polling will take place on FRIDAY, the 26th day of November instant, at the following polling places:—

The polling will commence at 8 a.m., and close at 4 p.m. of the same day.

THOMAS G. WALKER, Returning-officer.

Wallerawang, 19th November, 1880.

TO THE ELECTORS OF HARTLEY.

As you have returned me against no mean opponents in several general elections, I beg to state that it is my intention again to offer myself for election. Since I have been your representative I have recorded no vote that gives me regret; nor have I taken part in any debate that I should wish to recall. During the Parliament whose dissolution is drawing near, I introduced several questions; amongst them the opening of the Public Library and Museum on Sundays, the initiation of Good Lectures, and for the introduction of a bill for the limitation of usury. I am prepared to defend the opinions I hold in regard to these matters, let the result be what it may. Those who have notified through the Press their intention of opposing me on these grounds can now have the opportunity of doing so. The present Education Act received my warmest support and advocacy, and I shall at all times defend it. I am of opinion that the people cannot be too thankful to the initiators of the Public secular, and compulsory education—the League—for some of the best principles in the Act. The present Government, in my opinion, deserves, in some respects, well of the country; and the people no doubt rejoice over the fruits of a coalition Government, though the measures passed were virtually created during previous Parliaments; but now the oil of peace is fairly divided the State runs smoothly. The proposals of the Government in regard to export duties met with all the opposition I could give them, the imposition of a duty on wool being most unjust, but not more so than the attempted royalty on coal, which, if carried, would have been a tax on all manufactures. I am in favour of still greater extension at railways, and regret that the present and past Administrations have lacked the energy and courage to construct a line to Circular Quay. I still firmly believe that railways should be formed from the sale of certain lands, as was explained in a resolution tabled by me on the 19th of November, 1878, viz.—"that this House is of opinion that, in future, Crown lands adjoining to, and two miles in width on each side of, any proposed extensions of railways in this colony shall only be sold by auction, and that portions of such land as may be considered suitable for the purpose shall be reserved as the sites for townships or villages and for other public purposes, and that the proceeds of the sale of such lands shall be set apart as a fund to be used in defraying the cost of such railways," &c., &c. The principle of this resolution was generally agreed to, but withdrawn on the promise of the Government to bring in a Bill to deal with it. I believe in a constant flow of immigration to our shores, of a well selected class, notwithstanding the cant always raised against it by the so-called friends of the working classes. I am also of opinion that those who would deprive the country of some £650,000 per annum are worth watching. No principle of repudiation for remitting interest on the purchase-money of selections should be entertained for one moment. I favour an increased rental on runs, and for giving a more secure tenure. I shall support any measure for the prevention of Sunday selling in public-houses, and for the establishment of a Board to issue licenses. I shall not bind myself to support any particular party. Upon all matters of importance I shall address you in person. Trusting a renewal of your past confidence,

I am, yours, &c.,

J. HUBLEY.

Petersham, 8th October, 1880.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE GWYDIR.

Gentlemen,—Having been invited by a large number of the electors in our district to come forward at the next election, I have consented to do so, as I see no hope of any of our local men putting in an appearance, and I consider it my duty not to refuse the responsibility of taking part in the legislation of our country, however feeble that attempt may be.

There are no very exciting topics before the country just at present.

As I supported the Education Act some 12 years ago, the improvements since made are not likely to cause me to alter my opinion. The Land Bill having been so lately amended, it is not probable that this question will be re-opened until this Act has had a fair trial. I have not had a very large political experience to offer you, but still I am not altogether new to that life.

I hope to visit most parts of the Electorate before long, and will then give you every opportunity in my power of hearing my views on subjects affecting our district and the country generally, and answer questions you may think fit to ask.

I have the honour to be,

Yours faithfully,

W. R. CAMPBELL.

PARRAMATTA RAILWAY STATION.

A FORTUNE TO THE BUYER.

SPLENDID BUSINESS SITE.

CORNER POSITION, TAYLOR AND DARCEY STREETS, FACING THE RAILWAY ENTRANCE GATES.

WELL-BUILT COTTAGE RESIDENCE.

BEST HOTEL SITE IN THE TOWN.

MILLS, PILE, and GILCHRIST have been instructed by Mr. THOMAS WHITE to sell by auction, on the Ground, on WEDNESDAY, 24th NOVEMBER, at 11 o'clock,

THAT VERY VALUABLE property, comprising the COTTAGE and LAND, at present occupied by the proprietor as a private residence.

THE COTTAGE contains 8 rooms, kitchen, and bathroom, and has a never-failing supply of water.

The land has 50 feet frontage to TAYLOR-STREET, and 150 feet to DARCEY-STREET; the whole well enclosed, and subdivided into flower garden, yard, fruit and vegetable garden.

The great feature in this property is the EXCEPTIONALLY FINE POSITION for a business as a store, butcher's shop, or hotel.

THE COTTAGE is back from the street, and there is ample room for 4 grand shop fronts.

THE RECENT ALTERATIONS by the GOVERNMENT of DARCEY-STREET has made this the best business position possible, and the extension and enlargement of the GOODS YARD and the new STATION, now being built on the north side of the line directly facing this property, will cause it to treble its value during the next 2 years. All the land opposite is Government, and this the only corner there can be in this locality.
